

Election Winners Remain in Doubt In Four States

GOP Losers in South Dakota, Alabama May Challenge Count

WASHINGTON (AP)—The election is over but the battle of the ballot box continues, and residents of four states may not know who their next governor is for several weeks.

And two losing Republican Senate candidates from South Dakota and Alabama have indicated they may challenge the first count of ballots that showed their Democratic opponents ahead.

The gubernatorial battles are in Massachusetts, Minnesota, Maine and Rhode Island. As of Friday night, unofficial figures showed Republican incumbents to be ahead in Maine and Minnesota while Democrats held tenuous leads in Rhode Island and Massachusetts.

Peabody Gains

In Massachusetts, Edwitt Peabody jumped further ahead when the official canvass of Boston and some revisions in other areas gave him a 3,868-vote margin over Republican Gov. John A. Volpe. Both have taken out recount papers the official canvass is expected next week.

Two remote North Woods precincts—the last two to be heard from—added to Minnesota Gov. Elmer L. Andersen's unofficial lead, but a 100-vote error was discovered in one county and by nightfall Republican Andersen's edge over Democratic Lt. Gov. Karl Rolvaag had dwindled to 51 votes with about half of the state's 87 counties officially canvassed.

The Minnesota Canvassing Board won't declare a winner until Nov. 20. Then either side may ask for a recount.

The Rhode Island question probably won't be settled before Nov. 21. Democratic Gov. John A. Notte held a 47-vote lead over Republican John H. Chafee in the unofficial count Tuesday. But State Board of Elections employees won't start tackling some 5,000 absentee ballots until Monday.

About 1,400 of these absentee ballots are from servicemen with 500 or so more still expected. By state law they can't be opened until Nov. 21.

Recount Likely

In Maine the State Elections Division rushed work on the official tabulation, hoping to have it by Tuesday. Democrat Maynard C. Dolloff, who trailed Gov. John H. Reed by 405 votes in the unofficial count, has said he'll ask a recount, which probably could begin next Thursday and would take three to four weeks.

U.N. Operation Blocked by Cuban Defiance

Negotiations Result In Endless Haggling By East and West

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Cuban defiance, Soviet stalling and a resulting welter of confusion are plaguing U.N. efforts to solve the three-week old Caribbean crisis.

Negotiations, launched at fever pitch after President Kennedy revealed the Soviet missile threat in Cuba have turned into an endless round of East-West haggling that apparently produced little in the past week.

The Soviet Union has balked over two U.S. demands—to pull its jet bombers out of Cuba and to allow on-site inspection of its missile bases.

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has virtually doomed hopes of moving the long-range bombers by insisting that they were given to his government by Moscow and that he intends to keep them.

Castro Refusal

Castro has refused from the beginning to permit on-site inspection by the Red Cross, the United Nations or any other agency.

Many delegates here believe the United States will quietly drop the question of first hand verification once it is convinced the missiles have been pulled out. But the United States insists long-range jets capable of carrying nuclear bombs are offensive weapons, and the Russians have sidestepped saying anything about moving out the bombers.

More than half of the 40-odd Soviet missiles are reported on their way back to Russia and the rest are due to be headed home by Monday night.

The United States, Russia and Cuba all agreed to the plan to let the Red Cross check Cuba-bound Soviet ships for arms. But diplomatic sources in Havana said Friday night that Cuba would refuse to let any of her own vessels submit to inspection.

U.S. sources said they had not expected the Cubans to submit to any check in view of Castro's stand, but they felt it highly unlikely that the Kremlin would entrust its missiles to Cuban merchantmen. They recalled that the Soviet Union was careful to keep its Cuban missile bases under control of Soviet technicians.

The Soviet Union has allowed U.S. naval vessels to check outgoing Russian ships to make sure the missiles are being shipped back home as promised by Premier Khrushchev, but it has made clear that it does not expect the inspection to continue beyond Monday, the date it set for moving out the last of the rockets.

Kuehn 'Deluged' By Urgings for Vote Recount

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Philip Kuehn, the Republican governor candidate in last Tuesday's election, said Friday he has been "deluged" with calls urging him to demand a recount.

Kuehn was defeated, on the basis of incomplete, unofficial returns, by about 12,000 votes by Democrat John W. Reynolds.

Immediately after the final batch of Milwaukee County returns swung the election to Reynolds, Kuehn raised the prospects of a recount in the event the official canvass, now underway, showed appreciable differences from unofficial tallies.

"We're getting calls from all over the state," Kuehn said Friday, "and people are telling us that some differences are showing up outside of Milwaukee County as well as inside."

Secretly-Installed Arms Expected to be Gone From Cuba by Monday Night

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than half the 40-odd Soviet missiles secretly installed in Cuba are reported on their way back to Russia. The rest are due to be headed home by Monday night.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev is also understood to be pulling out several thousand military technicians assigned to the Cuban rocket bases.

But there were indications the end of the U.S. blockade may not be soon.

Khrushchev's cleanup of the known missile sites—and at an unexpected speed—coincides with the apparent end of Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan's mission to Havana.

Failure By Mikoyan

U.S. officials now take it Mikoyan has failed in any effort he may have made to pressure Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro into accepting international inspection to verify removal of the missiles and dismantling of the bases.

In Havana, Mikoyan was reported to have conferred again Friday night with Castro after having spent Thursday touring collective farms with him. But Washington officials believe Mikoyan may leave this weekend.

So far as President Kennedy is concerned, officials said, this assumed failure of Mikoyan means Khrushchev will not live up to that part of his Cuban crisis agreement that called for international verification.

Kennedy, informants added, plans to maintain a prolonged naval blockade and aerial surveillance of the island to safeguard against any new sneak Soviet operation.

The U.S. Navy began Friday to intercept merchant ships hauling the Soviet rockets away from Cuba.

The missiles were loaded as deck cargo and photographs made public showed eight on one ship and six on each of two other vessels.

Newsman aboard a Navy patrol plane Friday night saw an American destroyer sweep in beside the Soviet freighter Anosov, catch it in the glare of a powerful search light and by signals arrange to inspect it after daybreak today.

Inspection Arranged

"We have arranged an inspection without boarding," the destroyer Barry reported by radio. This will include a closeup view by daylight and photographs, the inspection pattern reported to have been followed Friday.

The Anosov appeared to be heavily loaded with military equipment, including what looked like eight missiles.

Other ships believed loaded with missiles were also understood to have sailed from Cuban ports and further intercepts were due to be announced.

The Soviet government had agreed to let the ships be checked by the Navy so that the United States would know that missiles were going back across the Atlantic.

It was reported here that nine Soviet ships would be involved in a rocket retreat from Cuba and the Soviet government has informed Washington the operation would be finished by Monday night.

Loerke Resigns as Head of Hospital

Thomas Lesselyoung Named To Replace Him Temporarily

Norbert Loerke, 48, superintendent of the Outagamie County Hospital since 1953, resigned late Friday and the board of trustees appointed Thomas Lesselyoung, a social worker hospital employee, to succeed him temporarily.

The actions followed a meeting of the Outagamie County Board's executive committee lasting most of Friday afternoon. The executive committee asked the trustees to seek the resignation, which was submitted immediately.

Loerke pleaded guilty late Thursday to two counts of misconduct in office. The charges involved the use of men being paid by the county and the use of county property in work on Loerke's summer home and property on Little Lake Buttes des Morts.

No Choice

Dr. A. L. Koch, a hospital trustee, said today the trustees have no choice under the law but to accept the resignation upon conviction on a felony. "We had to put somebody in charge immediately," he explained, "and Lesselyoung was named to run the hospital until a successor can be appointed."

Loerke's wife, Rose, continues to serve as matron. The Loerkes live in quarters at the hospital. Loerke was freed under $10,000 bond while a pre-sentence investigation is made. County Judge Gustave Keller set his appearance for Nov. 23.

Dist. Atty. Nick Schaefer signed the warrants on the complaint of Lt. Jack Zuelzke, special investigator. They spent about six weeks investigating after complaints were made to Schaefer by Al C. Fischer and Eugene Kloes, Appleton members of the county board. The investigation is continuing. Many employees and former employees and hospital patients have been questioned.

Red Purge In Bulgaria Widening

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP)—The reported house arrest of ousted Premier Anton Yugov pointed today to a widening purge of Bulgarian Communists tainted with Stalinism.

Informants said that Yugov, ousted along with six other party leaders last Sunday, was placed under guard in his home Thursday night shortly after he was condemned before the party congress as an advocate of the personality cult who misused his power to persecute political rivals.

One party leader after another got up to condemn Yugov and his associates as criminals who deserved the maximum punishment possible under Bulgarian law for using terroristic methods against what they called some of the best forces in Bulgarian communism.

Up to now, party sources have not said what this would involve. "It certainly looks as if many of them are going to get the axe," a neutral observer said.

So far, all those expelled from their positions were closely associated with Yugov while he was interior minister from 1944 to 1949, the year that saw Bulgaria engulfed in a wave of terrorism which sent thousands of Communists and non-Communists to the gallows.

Party sources said that aside from those already ousted numerous other Bulgarian Reds could expect to face similar action, especially Stalinist forces among the middle ranks of power and the military.

Indians Repulse Attack by Red Chinese Along Border

Advancing Communist Troops Greeted by Heavy Shellfire

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Red Chinese troops launched new attacks along India's northeast Himalayan border but were repulsed, the Defense Ministry announced today.

Indian and Red Chinese tanks were reported poised in Ladakh on the northwestern front.

The attacks in the northeast came over the past two days near Walong, 15 miles west of the Burma border, and at Jang, about 300 miles to the west near the Bhutan border, a Defense Ministry spokesman said.

He said the Chinese push near Walong was under cover of artillery fire. In Jang, he reported, the Indian forces shelled advancing Chinese.

Indians Confident

Informed sources said Indian commanders in the northeast expressed confidence they can hold their present lines where the Chinese threaten mountain passes leading down into the plains of India's Assam State.

In the Ladakh area, informed sources reported, the Chinese shot at an Indian transport plane carrying military supplies to Chushul airfield, situated on a 14,230-foot plateau. The sources said the Chinese gunfire missed the plane.

A showdown battle for the airfield is expected.

India flew light tanks into the area to counter a Communist tank buildup near the airfield and across the disputed border at Rudok in Tibet.

Communist tanks were seen only a few miles from the airstrip, an Indian Defense Ministry spokesman said.

The airfield is the only one the U. S. Naval Base at Guantanamo Changed to Fearsome Stronghold

GUANTANAMO BAY, Cuba (AP)—In just three weeks the U.S. naval base in eastern Cuba has been transformed into a fearsome stronghold.

The changes wrought by the Cuban crisis are startling.

The base is bristling with combat-ready Marines brought here within five hours after they received orders at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Prior to the naval quarantine President Kennedy announced Oct. 22, this base was a relatively cheerful place. Sailors' wives tended flower gardens and their children attended school here.

Short Notice

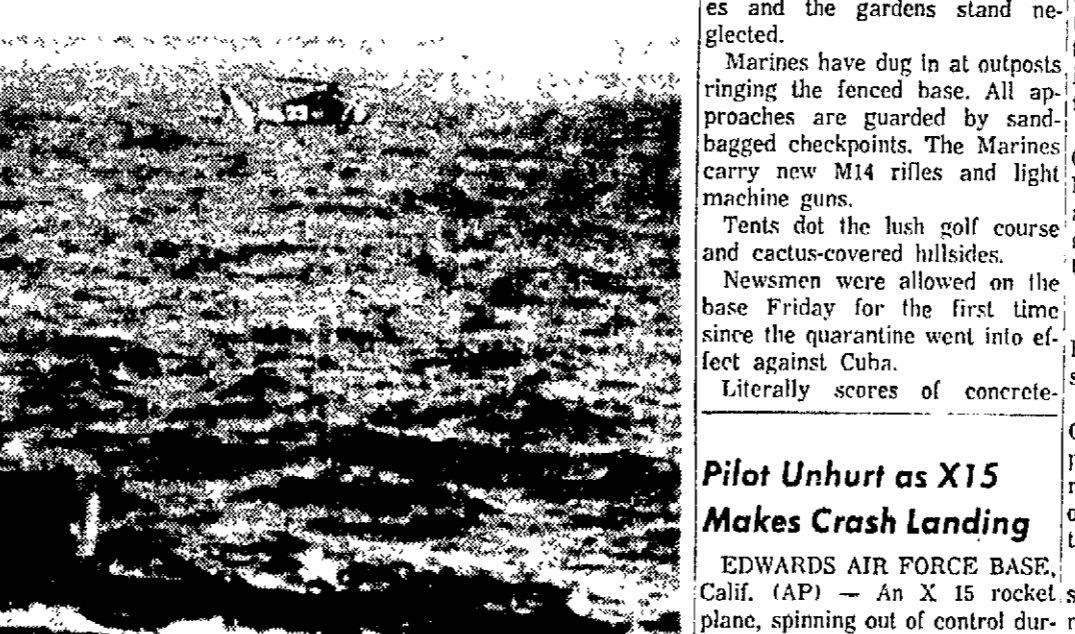

The families were whisked out on short notice. Now bicycles lean forlornly against deserted porches and the gardens stand neglected.

Marines have dug in at outposts ringing the fenced base. All approaches are guarded by sandbagged checkpoints. The Marines carry new M14 rifles and light machine guns.

Tents dot the lush golf course and cactus-covered hillsides.

Newsman were allowed on the base Friday for the first time since the quarantine went into effect against Cuba.

Meany Denies Bias Exists Within Labor

AFL-CIO Leader Lashes Out at NAACP Official

NEW YORK (AP)—AFL-CIO President George Meany, speaking Friday night before a Negro audience, denied charges of discrimination in the labor movement and lashed out at Herbert Hill, labor secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Meany spoke at the convention of the Negro American Labor Council.

Today's scheduled speaker is Walter P. Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers.

Referring to Hill, who has charged discrimination within the ranks of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, Meany said: "When anyone tries to say that the trade unions are the chief barrier to the economic opportunities of Negroes in this country, I resent it and I reject it, for it is simply not true."

Chief "Expert"

"Yet the labor secretary of the NAACP was the chief prosecution 'expert' last August in a political attack on the ILGWU, a union whose record shines like a beacon in the history of human progress," Meany said.

Concerning the ILGWU case, Meany continued: "What contribution is made to the cause of equal opportunity by spreading outright falsehoods, by attempting to smear a union whose civil rights record is unsurpassed?"

Meany then referred to an NAACP decision last month to press for decertification by the National Labor Relations Board of unions guilty of discrimination.

One of the targets in the drive was a local of the United Steelworkers Union in Atlanta, Ga., accused of discriminating against Negro workers.

Meany termed the accusation against the steel union "fantastic."

Pilot Unhurt as X15 Makes Crash Landing

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — An X 15 rocket plane, spinning out of control during an emergency landing, flipped over twice on a dry lake bed and left its pilot dangling upside down by his straps.

The pilot, veteran John McKay, thought it all over and decided: "That was a damned good landing — up to a point."

McKay, who suffered only superficial injuries, will fly again. The X15 may not.

Lawrence Says GOP Actually Won Election In Total Vote

Without South,
Democrats Would Have Been Beaten

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — More Republican than Democratic votes were cast last Tuesday throughout the nation for senators and for governors, respectively, in the state-wide races outside the 11 states of the "Solid South."

Thus, in the two-party areas of the North—from East to West—the latest available figures show that the vote for Republican candidates in the senatorial contest totaled 18,531,149 as against 18,074,307 for the Democratic candidates. The percentage was 50.6 Republican and 49.4 Democratic.

Lawrence

The same trend appeared in the vote for governors outside the 11 southern states. The Republicans polled 17,256,261, or 51.9 per cent of the total, while the Democrats polled 15,990,095, or 48.1 per cent.

When the senatorial totals this year are compared with results in all states in the presidential voting in 1960—outside the 11 southern states—a slight Republican gain appears. Two years ago the Nixon percentage outside the South was 50.3 and the Kennedy percentage was 49.7.

As for the governorship totals outside the South, the Republicans' 51.9 per cent this year is 1.6 percentage points above what it was in the presidential voting in the nation in 1960 apart from the southern states.

Show Gains

These are Republican gains which do not show up in the number of senators elected. For the Democrats actually gained three and possibly four seats in the Senate due to factional fights in the Republican party or local conditions. But the majorities were narrow in several instances where Democratic senators won re-election.

The figures are significant, however, because they show that the relative position of the two parties on a numerical basis in the North is about the same as it was in 1960. As for the South, there were some close races last Tuesday in which Republicans polled an unusually high vote. They almost elected a senator in Alabama, where, out of a total vote of more than 394,500, only about 7,000 votes separated the two major parties. This is unprecedented.

Also, if the 1962 election results for governors were transformed into electoral votes today, President Kennedy could not be re-elected. Actually, he couldn't have been elected in 1960 without the electoral votes of the southern states.

So the nation has just been given this week another demonstration of the balance of power held by the 11 states in the South. The two-party system has been operating to some extent in Texas, Florida, Virginia and Tennessee in presidential races, but this is not true in congressional contests generally—though this time the Republicans in the South have captured 11 seats in the house and they have a senator from Texas.

If a two-party system were to be established in state and local as well as in presidential and congressional contests in the South, the Democratic Party might have a hard time winning a majority in Congress or the presidency.

South Split

While it is well known, for instance, that many of the Democrats in the South are on the conservative and anti-radical side, there are others in the so-called "liberal" category. Various Republican candidates for Congress in the southern areas, moreover, campaigned this year on the issue that their opponents were not.

Shortening of Priest Prayers Council Topic

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Suggestions were made at the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council today that the daily prayers priests must say be shortened to give them more time for their pastoral duties. Opposition to any change also was expressed.

The breviary—the book of daily prayers said by every priest—was the main topic of discussion at the council session in St. Peter's, a spokesman said.

"Several speakers requested that it be reduced in size so that priests might dedicate themselves more to the work of the apostolate," the spokesman said. "Others requested that it be adapted more to the demands of the times."

Priests now spend about two hours every day reading from the breviary.

Nineteen prelates spoke today—cardinals and archbishops. The spokesman said that some of the prelates suggested that the breviary not be changed because it has undergone reform through the centuries. The speakers, the spokesman said, pointed to revisions made by Pope John XXIII in 1960 and asserted that these made recitations easier.

Celebration for Debt Retirement

The Rev. Edgar Hoencke of Mesa, Ariz., chairman of the Board for World Missions of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod, will be guest speaker at the Fox Valley Lutheran High School at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. The occasion is a special thanksgiving and prayer service to celebrate the first anniversary of the debt retirement and expansion drive.

This program was started about a year ago for the purpose of liquidating the debt and obtaining funds for the necessary expansion brought on by the steady increase in enrollment. With the completion of the first year of the four-year drive, 17 of the 18 member congregations of the F.V.L.H.S. Federation are taking an active part.

The total expected in the drive over the four years is $475,000. Of this amount more than $70,000 has been received.

After the service in the gymnasium, an open house will be held in the school, with students giving visitors information on use of the various rooms. The Ladies Guild of Fox Valley Lutheran High School will serve a lunch.

sufficiently southern in their viewpoint and didn't protest vigorously enough the sending of Federal troops to Mississippi.

There are signs that the South may be ready for a bolt from the Democratic Party in the next presidential election. It could turn out that the misuse of federal power attributed to President Kennedy in the South could cost him electoral votes next time. The tendency heretofore has been for the independents to support a "States Rights" ticket for the electoral college, but the movement has not been organized intensively. This is because the Democratic members of Congress from the South feel they cannot desert their party, as it might lose them the chairmanship of important committees or seniority in rank.

But there may come a time when the southern states elect to Congress many more Republican senators and representatives to take up their cause as against those on the Democratic side who wobble on issues vital to the southern states.

Certainly this week's elections prove that the Republican and Democratic voter strength outside the "Solid South" is about even today across the nation and that inroads can be made even in the conservative side nominated on the Republican ticket.

This, plus the narrow majorities of the Democratic senators in some of the larger states in the North and the winning of Republican governorships in such states as Michigan, Pennsylvania and Ohio—where the electoral votes at stake are large—can hardly be interpreted as a Kennedy "victory." It looks more like a Republican upsurge and the manifestation of a decidedly conservative trend among the voters.

Except for the many millions of dollars raised by the labor unions and used in the campaigns mostly in behalf of Democrats, the story on the gains and losses in the House and Senate would this week have been different.

Never in history has so much money been spent in a congressional campaign by labor unions as was expended this year. It went mostly for "precinct workers" who use various means of persuasion to "line up the vote."

But, even so, the Republican vote outnumbered the Democratic in the state-wide contests outside the South.

Sheinwold Plan Early For Trick

Any sensible opponent will refuse to do you a favor. If you know your opponent is uncooperative, do what you can to make a refusal impossible.

West opens the queen of spades, and you play low from dummy. You correctly assume that West would not lead away from the ace of spades.

West continues spades, and you are forced to ruff the third round. Unfortunately for you, the ace does not appear in all this time.

Now you can afford to lose only one trick in the red suits. If West has three or more hearts headed by the king he will have a sure heart trick. Then you will need help to avoid the loss of a diamond trick as well.

Finesse Works

After winning the third trick you lead a heart to try the finesse. Dummy's jack wins, and you have a sign of relief.

Don't continue with the ace of hearts. The time has come to provide for an end play. If you must lose a trump trick you must force West to lead a diamond for you.

Take the ace of clubs and ruff a club. Then lead a trump to dummy's ace.

As it happens, the king of hearts does not drop. Now you cash the king of clubs, discarding a diamond, and ruff the last club. This strips the last black card out of the West hand.

Finally, you lead a trump to throw West into the lead. He has only diamonds left and must therefore do you the favor of leading away from his king of diamonds. You don't have to lose a diamond trick, and your contract is safe. If you had left a club in West's hand he would have returned a club safely on being given his trump trick.

Holy Name Society Sets Special Event

MENASHA — The Holy Name Society of St. Mary Catholic Church, Menasha, will receive corporate holy communion during the 7:15 a.m. mass Sunday at the church.

A breakfast meeting will be held immediately after the mass in the St. Mary School cafeteria. Guest speaker will be Matthias Van Lannen, Green Bay, who will discuss the topic: "Getting Along With People."

Tom Weber, society president, has charge of the program.

English in Services

VATICAN CITY (AP) — The man with the cane and Oxford accent is convinced that a new church day is dawning for the English language.

Col. John K. Ross-Duggan has spent 20 years trying to hasten that day—when English is used in the regular worship of the Roman Catholic Church, wherever that language is spoken by the people.

"I'm hopeful, indeed, that the time is near," he said.

An urbane Catholic layman of courtly mien and ample girth, the 75-year-old Col. Ross-Duggan came here to follow action of the Vatican Ecumenical Council on proposals for substituting national tongues for Latin in the Mass.

An Accuse

It's a cause he has been pushing for more than two decades, as a founder and lay leader in the Vernacular Society in the United States.

The change, he said in an interview, would "result in a great increase in holiness" among worshippers.

"Our laity would be enabled to carry out the urgings of the Holy Father and his predecessors that we participate more actively in the Mass," he said.

Col. Ross-Duggan of Long Beach, Calif., who acquired his military rank as a British army officer in World War I and who still retains a British inflection, said there is always opposition to change, but he added:

"I feel that many bishops are committed to the holy need for use of the national languages."

He said the change would not mean discarding Latin, as the official language of the church in its documents and communications, nor even in the most solemn parts of the Mass—during the consecration, for example.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

There is Spiritual Meaning to be found in Veterans Day, the day we pay honor to the 21 million men and women who have served the cause of freedom in our armed forces. The faith and courage that helped them carry their crosses in past wars is needed as much today by those who bear the burden of uneasy peace.

The prayer of Stephen Vincent Benet, "For the Freedom of Mankind," gives a poignant thought for this Veterans Day.

"God of the free, we pledge our hearts and lives today to the cause of all free mankind... Grant us faith and understanding to cherish all those who fight for freedom as if they were our brothers... Grant us honor for our dead who died in the faith, honor for our living who work and strive for the faith, redemption and security for all captive lands and peoples... And in that faith let us march toward the clean world our hands can make."

Mrs. Roosevelt Always Had Maternal Attitude for Others

Former First Lady Was Held In Special Regard by Politicians

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—On a hot August night in 1956, a tall, erect woman in a conservative blue dress and a no-nonsense hat walked to the speaker's stand at the Democratic National Convention.

Without a prepared note, relaxed and easy before a crowd that stood cheering, then hushed in deference to her, she administered a kindly but unmistakably maternal lecture.

Her appearance came at a critical time in the Democratic convention's struggle to name a candidate. Adlai E. Stevenson, the party's 1952 candidate, was the odds-on favorite.

But he was being fought by Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and New York Gov. Averell Harriman, the latter seeking his party's nomination as the political heir of Franklin D. Roosevelt and of the New Deal.

The words of Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, widow of the New Deal president, belied her 72 years.

Need Leaders

"New problems must be met in new ways by young leaders with imagination rather than by reliance solely on party traditions," declared the woman who had presided over the White House for 12 years. "... Keep the (Democratic) party young and let young people lead it."

It was a dramatic moment which the delegates present and the nation—watching on television—savored fully: the woman who was the living symbol of the whole Roosevelt era urging her party not to look backwards but to face toward the future.

Facing forward, rarely looking backward, was an important part of her own brisk approach to life.

When she did look back, it was quite without nostalgia for the good old days but rather to explain, connect or amplify something current or ahead.

An acquaintance recalled one day asking Mrs. Roosevelt: "Don't you ever feel depressed? What do you do when you just have one of those days when life doesn't seem worth bothering with?"

Mrs. Roosevelt, looking at her with surprise, said: "Why, one just faces up to it and goes about one's job."

Toward the whole Democratic

Last of a Series

party, Mrs. Roosevelt developed something of the family feeling she had about her own children. The relationship was quite different than that of any previous President's wife and finally had little to do with her emeritus position.

"Actually," she said, "I grew up without any political party convictions. My maternal grandmother, who raised me, never really recognized there were Republicans and Democrats. And then, of course, I spent many years in school abroad. So that when I came home and started to do some social work at Rivington House, it turned out that the friends I made were Democrats and it seemed that the Democrats stood for the things I stood for."

Active in Politics
Her active participation in party politics began during the days of her husband's convalescence from polio. She was "pushed" into the women's division of the Democratic State Committee by her husband's political mentor, Louis McHenry Howe.

Howe pushed, she said, "not because Louis cared so much about my activities but because he felt that they would make it possible for me to bring into the house people who would keep Franklin interested in (New York) state politics."

And in the course of her political education, Mrs. Roosevelt, in her determined way, took on the most painful job of her life. She triumphed over her shyness and forced herself to make speeches. At first, Howe was her self-appointed critic.

Once, she reported, he asked her why she gave "that silly little giggle" when there was nothing to laugh about. Mrs. Roosevelt's nervousness gradually disappeared through the years, and with it the high-pitched little laugh. In the course of the years, too, she even learned to ignore attacks and rumors which are, apparently, the crosses every public person and his family must carry.

In the book, "This I Remember," Mrs. Roosevelt discussed with her usual detachment the forces which prevented the much criticized Roosevelt children from growing up in the usual family atmosphere.

Family Spotlighted
"I sometimes wonder," she wrote, "whether the American public... realizes how much the family of a public man has to pay in lack of privacy for the fact that he is willing to serve his country... In addition, I doubt if the public realizes the price that the whole family pays in curtailment of opportunity to live a close family life."

The pattern of Eleanor Roosevelt's public life indicates that, had circumstances been different, she would have found a professional career in either teaching or social work.

And while Mrs. Roosevelt never underestimated the importance of the jobs she was tackling, never forgot the dignity surrounding the positions that she held, she set no store at all in her own personal position.

Once she was asked for which single accomplishment she would like to be remembered.

"There is no accomplishment that I think could possibly be important enough to be recorded," she replied, "and I have no desire to be remembered except by the few people whom I love."

"Wonder why our electric bill's gone up?"

Happens every fall for most families. The family moves back inside after spending the summer outdoors. With the increased family activity, the extra and heavier use of appliances, and use of more lights, the bill goes up.

Then, too, everybody seems to use more and more electricity as time goes by. New appliances (perhaps you have a second TV in your home).

New children (the more children, the more you need electric service). Teen-agers (they need good lights for their school work).

But even though your bill is higher, electric service is still one of the best bargains in your entire budget. Did you know, for example, that the average price per kilowatt-hour is actually less than it was 25 years ago?

Veterans Day

Military service in old Europe was an unpleasant business and one reason for immigration to the young United States, particularly in the early 19th Century. But as we prepare to celebrate Veterans Day tomorrow, the attitudes of Americans have changed toward the military. It is no wonder, for 22 million veterans of various wars now live in the United States.

In all American wars, including the police action in Korea, some 30 million men and women served. Despite the riots against the U. S. draft law during the Civil War and efforts to avoid selective service requirements by a handful of dissidents in more recent years, the military obligation has become a part of our way of life. It is often regarded as an irritating nuisance and sometimes seriously disrupts careers and families. But on the whole the belief that the defense of our nation is everybody's business is a healthy one.

The various military services are honorable careers for many men and women. But the majority of veterans are full-time civilians who have given up that status during wartime or for a few years. Service for the nation has come to be accepted by the majority of men and women as a requirement of citizenship.

And this, we think, is the way it should be. We all share the various blessings of liberty and we should share the responsibilities. It still is necessary in this imperfect world to exhibit the willingness and training to fight in order to maintain freedom and hope for peace.

George Hadland Retires

One of the men whose long labors and resolute devotion to the ideals of natural resources conservation have contributed mightily to the distinguished reputation of the Wisconsin Conservation Department in this country has retired from the state service.

George Hadland, for many years a warden in the field and in later times chief of the enforcement division of the conservation administration, has applied for the early retirement option under the pension act that covers state law enforcement personnel. While we regret his decision, it is also apparent that Mr. Hadland's long and productive service entitled him to make it.

In the early years of the state outdoors conservation and management program, the enforcement staff was the heart of its working force. Mr. Hadland and his compatriots in the pioneer years not only enforced the law in an era when fish and game protection was not as widely accepted as it is today, but they were the most valuable and effective of the missionaries of the conservation cause, the public relations officers of their times.

Mostly they were men of deep devotion to nature and the outdoors, as was shown by the modest wage for which most of them worked during most of their lives. Yet they were the select of the staff. Recruiting standards were always comparatively high. Wardens were required to be men of rugged physical characteristics, and of exemplary moral character.

For George Hadland to rise to the command of a corps of such carefully chosen men was a tribute to his own qualities. But we suspect that he took more satisfaction from the fact that during his own time as commander of these officers, when he was charged with responsibility for recruiting, he maintained and even strengthened those standards of selection.

In late years the problems of keeping the poachers and the commercial violators in line was not as onerous as during the difficult days of the depression when Mr. Hadland and his contemporaries started their service. It was characteristic of the chief warden, however, to recognize such changes in the public character and to adapt his service to the changes. His proudest work in recent years was in educational programs among young people, and in campaigns for safety among hunters and boatmen.

Mr. Hadland has spent a useful and honorable professional career in the public service. He is relatively young, at 55, and we hope that he will continue his public-spirited work as a private citizen, not only in conservation affairs, but in public service activities generally.

The Spiegel Case in Germany

The Spiegel affair which rocked West Germany and came close to wrecking the Adenauer government is of special significance because it indicates that the German people recognize the value of a free press and are ready to defend it. Der Spiegel (The Mirror) is a West German news magazine which is rated as one of the best informed in Europe.

There has been a feud between Rudolf Augstein, publisher of the magazine, and Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss for several years. Recently security police raided the office of the news magazine at night and after searching and sealing the premises arrested publisher Augstein and three editorial assistants on charges of treason and bribery.

Justice Minister Wolfgang Stammberger protested the raid on the news magazine, stating that he had not been informed in advance. Later Stammberger threatened to resign and he and other members of a minority group in Chancellor Adenauer's cabinet threatened to pull its other four ministers out of the cabinet unless the men who kept the Justice Minister in ignorance of the raid were dismissed. Apparently Adenauer was able to win this crisis by agreeing to oust the No. 2 man in the defense and justice ministries.

The Bundestag (parliament) is now attempting to discover whether legal measures were used in the raid on the magazine. Suspicion has been voiced that the magazine was being punished for its frequent attacks on the Adenauer government.

Four members of the Der Spiegel staff are under arrest on suspicion of committing treason in publishing an article which allegedly contained military secrets.

But the charges may not be as important as they sound since they are based upon information about West German units participating in recent NATO exercise. The magazine claimed they received the lowest possible rating for combat readiness. Some of the details according to the federal prosecutor were staff secrets which Spiegel must have obtained possibly through bribery from armed forces officials.

The London Express commenting upon the case says, "Whether Dr. Adenauer does or does not survive the crisis over the Spiegel affair, nothing can alter what has already happened which is that the editor of an independent-minded German periodical has been arrested after he had dared to criticize Dr. Adenauer's defense minister, Herr Strauss."

The London Telegraph said, "That there should be a storm of protest in Germany about the way the editors of Der Spiegel have been treated is encouraging. The Americans have been complaining that secret military information was leaking into German newspapers and magazines. They believed Dr. Adenauer's colleagues were doing this for political reasons, and the action against Der Spiegel is intended partly to reassure Washington. But what worries people here is that a magazine that has been a fearless and splendidly informed critic of government should have been subjected to secret-police methods."

The case will be watched with interest. The Adenauer government's yielding to Dr. Stammberger's demands may mean that this case will be a landmark in the establishment of greater freedom for the press in Germany, and perhaps in all Europe.

Tree Farming Shows Gains

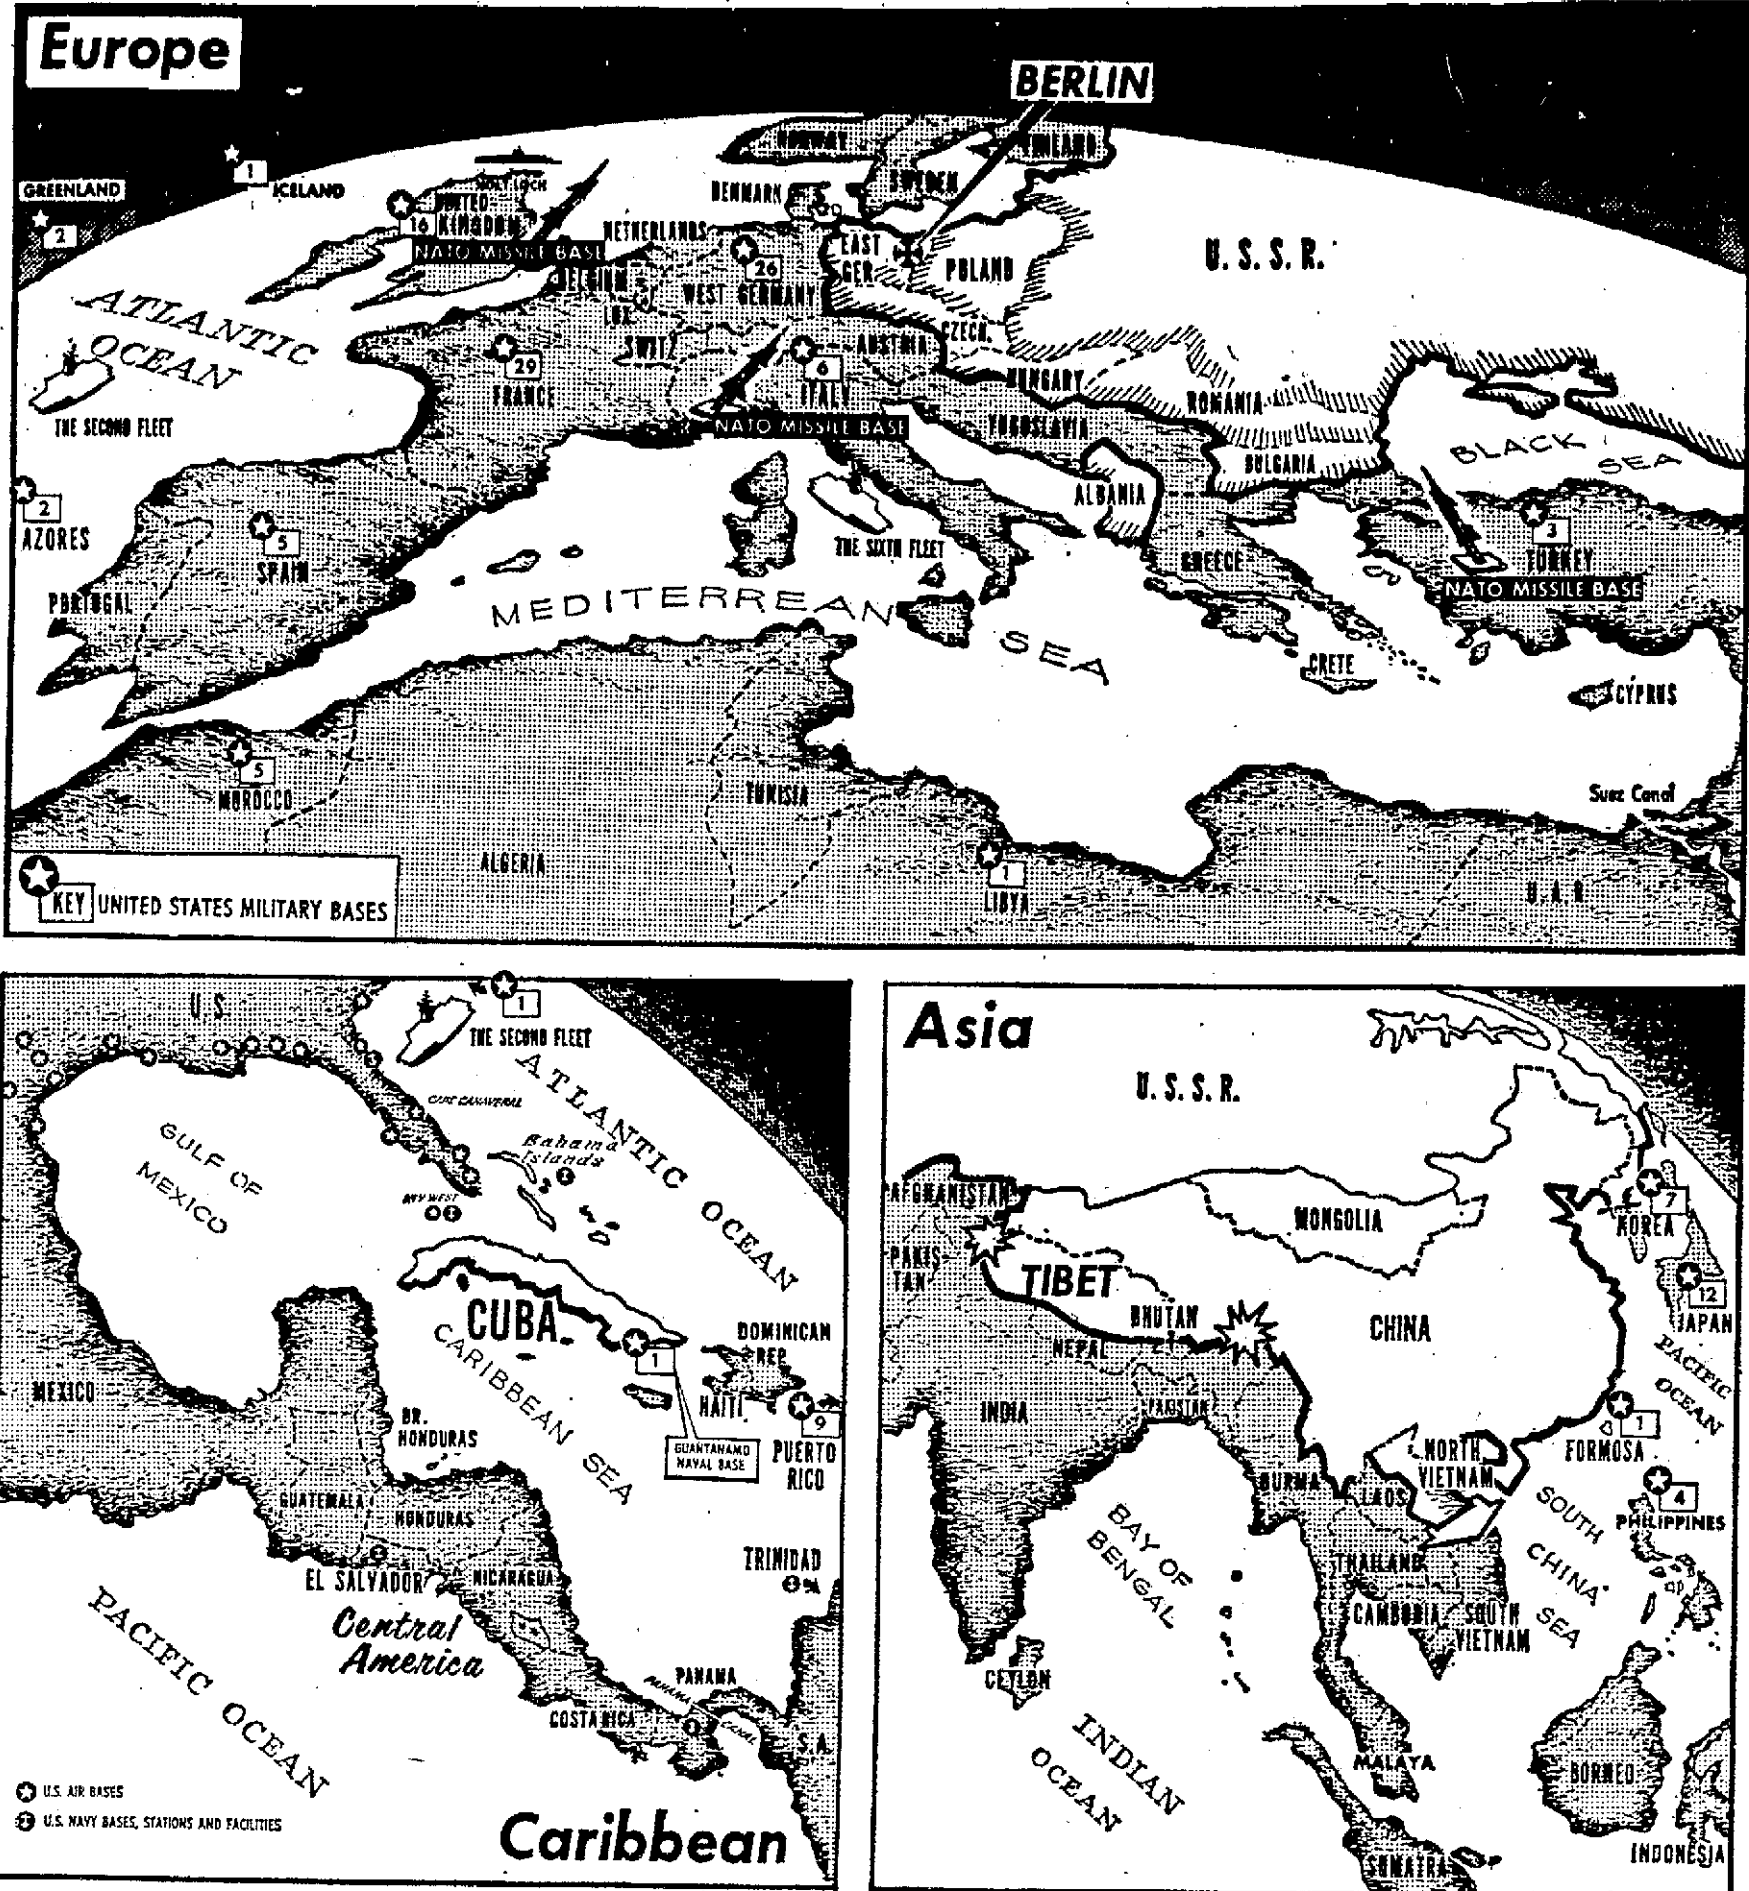

This year has been one of the best in the growth of tree farming in the 21-year history of that idea, according to Karl Swenning, retiring director of timberlands for Scott Paper Company, who spoke at a recent meeting of the American Forest Products Industries. The soundness and popularity of tree farming is indicated by its steady growth under the guidance of 2,000 professional foresters serving to keep up standards of forest management. Swenning pointed out that the tree farm program has the backing and support of all persons who understand the wise use of America's woodlands. He declared that the tree farms were putting a permanent wood supply "floor" under an industrial complex that employs nearly a million and a half persons and produces goods worth nearly $25 billion a year.

During the past year certified farm acreage increased from 57,176,679 acres to 59,408,299 acres. The certified tree farm units increased from 21,490 to 24,269. Swenning gave high praise to industry, state, federal and private foresters for voluntarily serving on tree farm committees which inspect woodland properties.

Under this program landowners who adequately protect their woodlands from fire, insects and disease, and harvest for repeat crops, may win a Tree Farm certificate, also a diamond-shaped sign to display on their property. There are no dues or assessments for the members but tree farmers do get expert advice on management problems. Any farmer interested in improving his woodlots can get the details of this interesting problem from the nearest American Forest Products Industries office. The southern farmers have found it very valuable with the result that Alabama, Florida and Georgia have each passed the 6-million acre mark of land devoted to tree farms. Mississippi continues to lead in the number of certified tree farm units with 3,012.

THREE THEATERS OF CONFLICT

East-West Crisis Points Dot Map of World

BY SID MOODY

AP Newsfeatures Writer

Spin a globe. Stop it and put your finger down, anywhere. It will not be far from crisis. Potential and actual danger areas are stacked around the world like dominoes. They are so interrelated that any one of them could send the rest toppling into World War III.

Communist pressure is being applied in Berlin, Laos, South Viet Nam, India, Cuba. Actual fighting is going on in India and South Viet Nam. The United Nations enforces an uneasy peace in the Congo province of Katanga. The Algerian fighting has ended only to be replaced by an unsettling leftward drift by the new nation.

East and West stare down gun-sights at each other in Quemoy and Matsu and over the cease-fire line in Korea. What American hasn't watched the vapor trails of SAC bombers curving across the sky? In Italy, Turkey, Montana, California, in submerged submarines somewhere off northern Europe, in the Urals nuclear missiles stand at the ready. For what?

No one can say if these armaments will ever be fired in anger. What's more ominous is that no one can say which of the world's trouble points could set them off. It's the brushfire character of current developments that keeps the Cold War warm.

The United States evidently gambled and won in Cuba. Does this mean Russia will gamble to try and make up in Berlin?

Red China, which takes a harder line on war than Russia, has battled into India, obviously embarrassing the Soviet Union which was trying to make the best of the world's two most populous nations. Conceivably China is reacting in protest of the Russian withdrawal over Cuba. Does this mean Russia will have to prove its manhood to its No. 1 ally by warming up a crisis in Laos or giving the Chinese a free hand in South Viet Nam?

Political unknowns of the Russian-Chinese relationship help make the world situation so volatile. China, badly in need of friends in the Communist entourage, sent defiant assurances of support to Castro during the Cuban crisis. In Cuba as in India does this mean Russia will have to follow against its will the more belligerent Chinese path or risk losing its ally?

HOW ABOUT BERLIN And how much longer can Moscow put off an East German peace treaty after so many promises to that wobbly country? And such a treaty would inevitably rehearse the chronic Berlin crisis.

Russia held China in check by managing the Communist infiltration in Laos. If Red China can get control of the South Viet Nam fighting, where the U. S.

has already committed thousands of soldiers, the situation could quickly expand into another Korea.

Any of these areas could provide the match for World War III. Even a palace revolt in the comic-opera sheikdom of Yemen caused an uneasy stir.

For years the United States has concentrated on threading a network of defenses around the globe to bring immediate pressure to bear on any threatening hulges in the Iron Curtain. This has meant destroyers in the Caribbean, helicopters in South Viet Nam, Marines in Lebanon and air transports in India.

If war has become global, so, in a flammable world, has keeping the peace.

Today and Tomorrow

World Alignments Undergoing Shakeup

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

We appear to have come to one of those moments in history when the state of things, which for good or evil, was fairly steady, is suddenly shaken up. No one can now see better than dimly what will be the new shape of things.

But we can, though very tentatively, see some of the implications and side effects of the two obvious major crises we are now living through — the one in this hemisphere around Cuba and the other in Asia around the invasion of India.

As for Cuba, through the full agreement about verification of the removal of the strategic weapons is still to be worked out, there is no doubt that the United States has the upper hand in this part of the world. For if Castro attempts to frustrate the implementation of the Kennedy-Khrushchev agreement, he will lay himself open to heavy penalties from a tightened blockade. The Soviet Union cannot now protect him in his recalcitrance. It will not protect him because its own interest is to write off the Cuban military venture as fairly as possible. It is dismantling its own missiles and it does not have the naval power to challenge, even if it wanted to risk war for Castro, the blockade of, let us say, oil shipments.

Castro has been deprived of the military protection of the Soviet Union, and if he is to replace it with some guarantee besides the promise of the United States not to invade him, his best course is to invite the Organization of American States to make Cuba a neutralized island which will concentrate its attention on its own internal development.

What is happening in Cuba is having far reaching effects not only in Latin America but, almost certainly, in Africa and the Middle East and Asia. Cuba itself is not very interesting to Africans and Arabs and Asians. But by conjunction with the Chinese invasion of India, the effects of the Cuban affair are compounded. Both in Cuba and in India the Soviet Union has had to water down or write off the promises of support which it had made.

India's foreign policy under Nehru has, as he himself has confessed, been based on an illusion. But what was the illusion? Not that the Chinese were too kind to hurt India: Red China has been nibbling at the Indian frontier for five years. The Indian illusion was that the Soviet Union was the paramount power in the Communist orbit and that it would and could prevent China from committing a serious aggression against India.

It is not, I think, an exaggeration to say that these parallel and coinciding crises in the Americas and in Asia have reduced dramatically the value of the Soviet guarantee to a distant country.

This will have great reverberations in the underdeveloped and unaligned and newly-liberated nations. They will no longer have India as their leader and their spokesman and their example, for India will no longer be unaligned.

Not being myself a Kremlinologist, I do not know what will be the effect of the two great crises on the internal situation of the Soviet Union. But if we suppose that in the crunch the vital interests of the Soviet Union will be put ahead of the Communist ideology, then, so it now appears, the Soviet Union may be entering upon an internal conflict of enormous proportions.

The Soviet Union finds itself contained and blocked in both directions. In the West, towards Europe and the Americas, the nuclear balance of power is against her, and her two attempts to close the gap — by resuming testing and by planting first-strike missiles in Cuba — have failed.

The crucial question is, it seems to me, whether the Krem-

In the East, Red China is consolidating control of the Tibetan plateau which threatens Soviet Siberia. By the blow at India, Red China has dethroned the Soviet Union in India and shown that neutralism in Asia will not be tolerated. Overriding all this is the prospect that Red China is growing in strength in spite of its economic troubles, and that in the years to come Red China will, with its vast armies and with nuclear weapons, threaten the whole Soviet position from the Urals to the Pacific.

The crucial question is, it seems to me, whether the Krem-

State Regiments Consolidating

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Nov. 13, 1862.

An attempt is being made by the officers of Wisconsin Regiments in Corinth, Miss., to consolidate the skeletons of companies until full ones are formed; according to a Chicago Times correspondent.

The officers prefer to have the regiments filled with new companies already officered instead of recruiting or drafting to fill up old companies.

It is thought this plan would give a new impetus to volunteering, and, as the loss of officers has been in full ratio to that of privates, that no excess of officers would exist.

A petition to that effect has been generally signed, approved by Gen. MacArthur, and forwarded to Gov. Salomon.

Medical Deduction Ceiling Doubled

BY SYLVIA PORTER

If you've had catastrophic medical bills this year, one comforting bit of news is that a new law gives you significant tax relief. For the law doubles the ceiling on deductions for medical expenses for practically everyone for 1962 and on.

Until this year, the general rule has been that you could not deduct more medical expenses in one year than $2,500 multiplied by the personal exemptions to which you are entitled (not counting extra exemptions for blind persons and those 65 or over). In no event, though, could a single person—other than a head of household or surviving spouse entitled to income splitting—or a married person filing a separate return deduct more than $5,000. Nor could a married person filing a joint return or a head of household or a surviving spouse entitled to income splitting deduct more than $10,000 in one year.

All these figures have now been doubled. Let's assume you are a married man with three children and this year you were hit by uninsured medical expenses of $15,000 over and above 3 per cent of your total adjusted gross income. Under the old law, your top deduction would have been $10,000, even though $2,500 multiplied by five exemptions comes to $12,500.

Deduction Possible
Because of the new law, your ceiling is now twice $5,000, but no more than $20,000. You can therefore deduct the entire $15,000 of your medical expense in 1962 and thereby slash your taxes.

If you have been close to the old dollar limits on medical deductions and worrying about losing deductions for additional medical expenses you must meet this year, you can now readjust your planning and make your payments within the doubled ceilings.

The ceilings on deductions by disabled persons 65 or over also have been lifted. The previous ceiling for medical deductions by the disabled person 65 or over was $15,000, and for both a taxpayer and his spouse disabled and 65 or over, the ceiling was $30,000. The new limits are $20,000 and $40,000.

The 3 per cent "floor" on medical expenses remains. To summarize, if you are under 65, you can deduct medical expenses above 3 per cent of your total adjusted gross income. You can include in your medical expenses the cost of drugs and medicines only to the extent that they exceed 1 per cent of your adjusted gross income.

This means that if your medical expenses don't go over 3 per cent of your adjusted gross income in either 1962 or 1963, you won't be entitled to any medical expense deduction in either year. Your year-end tax strategy clearly calls for an attempt to shift your expected medical expenses so that they run over the 3 per cent limit in at least one of the two years.

For instance, assume your adjusted gross income will be $9,000 in 1962 and also $9,000 in 1963 and your medical expenses will run about $250 in each year. Since you can deduct only medical expenses above 3 per cent of $9,000, or $270, you probably will wind up with no deduction in either year—even though you actually will spend $500 over the two years.

Your tax target should be to try to move into the closing weeks of 1962 some of the medical or dental treatments you originally planned to have done in 1963 and to pay for these before Dec. 31. By paying for $150 more of the dental work this year which you had scheduled for 1963, you will create for yourself a $130 medical expense deduction for 1962. Your actual expenses over the two years will be precisely the same either way.

Of course, if you have been unusually lucky this year and your medical expenses are far lower than they normally run, the proper strategy for you is to delay until January 1963 any dental or medical expenses that you can. This will permit you to raise next year's total and quite possibly give you a deduction if, in 1963, your luck isn't so hot and your payments run over the 3 per cent limit.

If you plan a medically necessary trip before Dec. 31 or already have made this sort of trip in 1962, a Supreme Court decision on your living expenses at your destination is of direct importance to you.

While your travel costs to and from your destination may qualify as a medical expense deduction if your trip is shown to be medically necessary, your meals and lodging while there do not qualify. The Supreme Court itself has now ruled this; so don't try to deduct your meals and lodging on these stays as medical expenses.

No Damages Awarded

Court Rules Cancer Caused by Cigarettes
PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—A U.S. district court jury came to this conclusion Friday following a trial in which a carpenter tried to collect damages from Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Otto Pritchard, 64, of Pittsburgh said he smoked the company's Chesterfield cigarettes from the 1920s until 1953, got lung cancer and had his right lung removed. The jury of eight women and four men ruled that cigarette smoking was "the cause or one of the causes" of Pritchard's lung cancer, but said Pritchard assumed the risk of injury when he started smoking.

McGovern led by 201 votes in the unofficial count. The State Canvassing Board doesn't meet until Dec. 6 to make an official declaration. Recount petitions may be filed as late as Dec. 16.

Sen. Joe Bottom, the Republican McGovern apparently unseated, said he planned to seek a recount.

MADISON (AP)—The State Department of Nurses reported today it is making a survey to determine how many professional nurses in Wisconsin are not working. The survey is linked with a national project to find out how many non-practicing professional nurses could return to duty on part or full time basis and under what circumstances they would be willing to work.

Plan Education Week At Menasha St. Mary's

MENASHA — St. Mary High School will observe American and Catholic Education Week simultaneously next week. Activities for the week will be keyed to American Education Week's theme "Education Meets the Challenge of Change" and that of Catholic Education Week's "Religious Education: Our Light in Life."

"The Challenge" is the subject chosen by the Rev. Donald Stoegebauer, school administrator, for Sunday's sermon. He will point out the need for preserving the American and Catholic way of life in an age of rapid spiritual, technological and sociological change.

Classrooms and student participation is being planned by the National Honor Society. Steve Schmidt is chairman of the committee and serving with him are Helen Fink, Mary Juneau, Mary Kober, Susan Shaw, Kathy Vanderhyden and Judy Waincott.

Parent-Teacher Night
A parent-teacher night, sponsored by the Home-School Society will be held in the cafeteria and gymnasium on Wednesday. Members of the National Honor Society will present a radio drama.

Parents are invited to visit regular school classes Thursday. The school week will close with a giant pep rally, Friday, to review the themes, and to spur the basketball team on to victory over Assumption High, Wisconsin Rapids, its first opponent of the season.

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph A. Becker urges that "all students finish this significant week with a spiritual period at mass and holy communion on Saturday."

San Francisco Mayor Denies 'Kezar' Will be Abandoned

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Mayor George Christopher Friday night denied reports published earlier that he advocated the abandonment of Kezar Stadium, home of the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League.

The San Francisco News Bulletin in its top front page story of the afternoon said Christopher was talking of reconstructing Candlestick Park, where the baseball Giants play, so that the park could accommodate football games.

"Then there would be little use for Kezar," Christopher was quoted as saying. The paper said Christopher wanted football at Candlestick so 49er fans would enrich the city treasury with parking fees. Kezar has just one, small city parking lot nearby while Candlestick parking can take care of hundreds of cars.

Five Groups Strip Pender Of His Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Paul Pender today remained middleweight champion only of Massachusetts—and he may even lose his home state soon—but his attorney, breathing fire, threatened legal action.

In one long swoop Friday Pender was stripped of the title by the New York State Athletic Commission, along with the European, British, Oriental and California commissions. All recognized Dick Tiger of Nigeria, already the champion of the World Boxing Association, the old National Boxing Association of the United States.

Pender first won a share of the title on Jan. 22, 1960 when he beat Sugar Ray Robinson in Boston. He lost it to Terry Downes in London on July 11, 1961, and won it back in Boston on April 7 of this year when he whipped Downes in a return.

Within 6 Months
Champions are supposed to defend their titles within six months. Since more than seven months has gone by, the ring bodies decided to act.

"I will take legal action if necessary," thundered John Cronin, Pender's attorney. "If Paul is deprived of his title, he also will be deprived of making a proper livelihood."

"What move we will make will be determined after careful consideration. As of now, I can state categorically that the action was most shocking, most capricious, completely unwarranted, arbitrary and unjustified."

Melvin Krulwich, chairman of the New York commission, formally defrocked Pender. He said that he had consulted with all the other commissions in question and that the decision was unanimous.

Snead Takes Individual Lead In Cup Meet

Teams With Palmer To Hold 3-Stroke Edge for U.S.

SAN ISIDRO, Argentina (AP)—Distressed Arnold Palmer, fresh from some overnight tinkering with a balky, uncertain putter, tried again to tame the slick greens of the San Isidro course today in the third round of the Canada Cup and International Trophy Golf Championship.

Palmer, the PGA's leading money winner this year, had two three-putt greens Friday and four bogeys on the back nine alone as he carded a two-over-par 33-39—72 over the gently rolling, 6,746 yard course.

"Arnold, all you have to do is hole two long ones and you're off and running," veteran Sam Snead advised his partner in the international tourney.

"Yes," Palmer agreed, "but when am I going to get those two long ones?"

Palmer took his putter back to the hotel with him to make some adjustments on the grip.

His 72 gave him a 140 for two days. Snead, plagued with putting troubles the first day, fired a 65 Friday. Their combined score for the two days is 273, enough to retain their three-stroke lead over the pressing Australians. One stroke further back is Argentina.

Sixty-eight professionals, two each from 34 nations, are competing in the tourney that ends Sunday. The United States is seeking a third straight victory.

The Canada Cup goes to the team winner and the International Trophy to the low individual scorer.

Chick Weed

The veteran Snead holds a five-stroke lead toward the latter, combining Friday's 65 with an earlier 68 for 133. Australia's Kel Nagle also had a 65 and is tied for second in the individual standings with teammate Peter Thomson, Dave Thomas of Wales, Gary Player of South Africa, Fidel De Luca of Argentina and Peter Alliss of England, each with a 138.

The principal trouble Palmer and others have had is the sun-baked surface of the greens, which fails to hold the ball in a straight line.

"The whole trouble is that chick weed," Snead said. "One day it falls off to the right, then the next day to the left. You can't putt on that kind of grass."

He cautioned Palmer to abandon his usual style of bold putting for a more cautious approach.

"You're dead if you hit 'em hard," he told Palmer during their round. "If you hit 'em hard you'll wind up three to four feet beyond the pin. You've got to baby them down here."

So Palmer tried it and slacked off, then fell disastrously short or wide of the cup.

And on the 14th, he gasped incredulously when an 18 inch putt rimmed the cup and slid out, costing him a bogey five. Twice earlier he missed from three feet out.

Nagle and Thomson had a two-day total of 276 while De Luca and Roberto De Vicenzo of Argentina, with a 277, appeared to be the only other team capable of catching the Americans. England is in fourth place, 11 strokes off the pace.

New York Titans to be Sold in Near Future, Says AFL Official

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Titans of the American Football League, on the rocks financially and unable to meet the payroll, will be sold in the near future, probably within a week. Milt Woodard, assistant commissioner of the AFL, said Friday the league has loaned the club enough money to meet the player payroll through Sunday's game with the Dallas Texans.

Asked if the league would continue this policy indefinitely, Woodard replied:

"No. We trust the affair will be completely settled by another week."

Harry Wismer, Titan owner, has offered the club for sale. He said is asking $2.5 million. Wismer, a former radio sportscaster, is reportedly to have lost $1.7 million attempting to compete with the New York Giants of the National Football League since the AFL was founded three years ago.

Woodard said at least three parties, all New Yorkers, have expressed interest in buying the franchise.

Spikes Rumors

In Oakland, AFL Commissioner Joe Foss spiked rumors that the owner of the New York Mets' baseball team, Mrs. Joan Whit-payson, has made an offer.

"No one from the Mets has been in touch with me," Foss said.

Woodard said he came to New York to make sure the Titan players were paid in full before this week's game.

"It was felt that the attitude of the New York players wouldn't be proper if they had not been paid for their last game," he said.

"We wouldn't want a club to have its morale down going into a game. In order to get top grade football, they had to be paid."

He said the money had been loaned to Wismer from a special league fund and would be returned to the league when the sale was completed. He said the league was putting up "about $40,000."

More than 6,000 buttons already have been sold, according to King, who said, "We are happy with the results because we are confident our heaviest sales will come during the final week."

The buttons, priced at 50 cents, are available at many outlets throughout the area, including the Post-Crescent.

Hanner, an 11-year Packer veteran and the world champions' oldest player in point of service, will be honored just before the Packer-Colt game, with ceremonies scheduled to start at 12:55. Under plans, he will be presented with an all-white, 1963 station wagon.

Hanner, an Arkansas native, who has been a regular since joining the Packers in 1952, has been an all-pro selection five times and played in two Pro Bowl games.

COPENHAGEN—Chris Christensen, 150, Denmark, outpouted Wally Swift, 151, England, 10.

Packers Seek Revenge for 1960 Loss in Philadelphia

Bays Have Won 30 of 33 Games Since Title-Game Setback

BY ART DALEY

Post-Crescent News Service

PHILADELPHIA — His sprawling town of narrow streets and an outdoor sports arena known as Franklin Field bring back vivid memories of the Packers' gallant fight against the Eagles in the 1960 championship game.

This was Green Bay's first title game appearance since 1944 when the Bays nipped the Giants in New York for the blue chips.

Sunday, the Packers play the Eagles again in Franklin Field. The title won't be at stake but a sellout (three months ago) crowd of over 65,000 will relive the memory of that thrilling title game and hope their beloved Eagles can keep the big Packers from winning their ninth in a row.

The Packers left a good impression on Dec. 26, 1960. Fred G. Sampson of Camp Hill, Pa., a spectator at the game, was so impressed by the 17-13 contest that he wrote a letter to several newspapers in Wisconsin. Here's his letter:

"I am an Eagle fan. I have been for 20 years. Last Monday I sat at Franklin Field and witnessed as fine a game as has ever been played in a championship contest. Needless to say I was happy with the results.

Respect and Admiration
"But I felt that you should know from one of the 'enemy' how much respect and admiration your team gained in defeat. The Packers truly displayed 'championship effort,' their last ditch effort was a classic example of why they won the Western Division title. Their sportsmanship afield was excellent, in fact, there were only four penalties in the entire game. To say there is an outstanding star on the team would be unfair to the entire squad, it is truly an 11-man team, no matter who the 11 men are.

"Your fine coach displayed his true worth when, while being interviewed, he made it a point that his remarks were not to be taken as excuses. I'm sure that many of the Green Bay fans are disappointed that their team didn't win, maybe another 30 seconds would have told a different story, who knows, that's what makes pro football the great game that it is."

If the Eagles had made it to Green Bay last winter we're sure the Packers would have obtained revenge.

And that's exactly what the Packers will be seeking when the two clubs meet in Franklin Field Sunday . . . revenge.

Most people thought the Packers

Andersen Wins Award Again

Chosen as FRVC's 'Coach of Year' For Second Time

In 36 years of football at old Sheboygan High, then Central High, and now South High School there have been only two championship teams and nine winning seasons.

One of those championship teams and two of those victorious seasons

Andersen have come in the past two years—the product of the coaching know-how of LeRoy (Andy) Andersen. He has been at South for only three years.

Today, Andersen is being honored with the designation of Fox River Valley Conference "coach of the year" — the second such award he has received in as many seasons from conference sports-writers.

Andersen received the 1962 award for guiding South to an unbeaten season—the first in Sheboygan football annals.

Although considered to be one of the two contenders for the 1962 Valley title in pre-season ratings, along with perennial favorite Green Bay West, South had a manpower problem to lick.

Two Problems
Eleven lettermen gave him an imposing nucleus to build around from a 5-2, third-place team of the previous year — but he faced two challenging problems: of replacing three outstanding backs and of getting along without any real depth. Lost were Dave Meyer, John Schommer, and Ness Flores, three husky backs who had gained 1,387 of the 1961 team's 1,617 yards. But he made use of three unheralded "little men" averaging only 158 pounds in weight, who wound up as the Valley's second, fourth, and fifth best ground-gainers. The depth problem he never did lick, being forced to go with seven or eight "both-ways" players.

In 14½ years of coaching, Andersen has had only one losing season—his first year at South (1-5-1). In all, at Wilmot, Sheboygan Falls, Kohler, and South he has compiled a 66-12 record. He is 37, a native of Kenosha, and a former teammate of Bobby Layne at Texas University. He is married and has five children.

Button Sales for 'Hanner Day' Going Fast

GREEN BAY — Button sales for "Hawg Hanner Day", which will honor veteran defensive tackle Dave Hanner in conjunction with the Packers' final home game of the season against the Baltimore Colts, Sunday, Nov. 18, are gaining momentum daily, Chairman Bill King announced today.

More than 6,000 buttons already have been sold, according to King, who said, "We are happy with the results because we are confident our heaviest sales will come during the final week."

The buttons, priced at 50 cents, are available at many outlets throughout the area, including the Post-Crescent.

Only 2 Lettermen Are Back; Papermakers Open at AHS

BY JIM HARP

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KIMBERLY — Despite the return of only two lettermen, Coach Dave Genzmer, of Kimberly High School, is currently conducting basketball drills with an air of optimism.

Good height, more speed and the sharpness of a host of junior candidates are the main factors behind Genzmer's enthusiasm.

Of the 12 players on the varsity at the present time, Genzmer has eight who top the 6-foot mark. There are three seniors and nine juniors with the unit.

Lettermen who will lead the Papermakers in their season opener Nov. 16 at Appleton are forward-center Wes Vander Velden and forward Lee Levknecht. Vander Velden stands 6-3 and scored 220 points last season. Levknecht is 6-2 and counted 74 markers in the 1961-62 campaign.

Bunn paced the Terrors all through the season and raced to a third-place finish in the state meet.

Galimore Placed On Reserve List By Chicago Bears

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Bears of the National Football League placed halfback Willie Galimore on the reserve list Friday night and activated end Angelo Coia.

Galimore suffered a knee injury early in the season and has decided to withdraw from competition the rest of the year.

Last season Galimore gained 707 yards rushing and 502 on pass receptions.

Coia suffered a leg fracture early this year and it is doubtful he will be available for the Minnesota game Sunday.

Los Angeles' rebounding Lakers have served notice they've come all the way back from a four-game losing string that slowed them in the opening phase of the National Basketball Association season.

The Lakers got a 41-point performance from brilliant Elgin Baylor Friday night and beat the Boston Celtics 133-120.

The loss dropped the perennial champion Celtics into second place in the Eastern Division behind Syracuse, which scored a 101-93 triumph over St. Louis. Cincinnati fought off a last-minute New York rally and broke a three-game losing string, 122-119. San Francisco overcame Chicago 134-126 in other NBA action.

Lost Playoff

The Lakers, who lost the deciding seventh playoff game in overtime to Boston for the championship last season, won at the foul line. The Celtics outscored the Lakers 53-32 in field goals, but Los Angeles connected on 29 of 41 free throws while Boston hit only 14 of 21.

The score was tied 10 times and the lead changed hands eight times in the third period before Los Angeles put in a row and were ahead to stay.

Jerry West had 27 points and Dick Barnett 25 for the Lakers. Sam Jones scored 23 and Bob Cousy 22 for the Celtics.

Backcourt aces Hal Greer and Larry Costello came off the bench, following a brief rest, and keyed a fourth-quarter rally that brought Syracuse its triumph over St. Louis. The Nets trailed by one 89-88, with less than six minutes to go when Greer and Costello took over.

New York, trailing by 10 going into the final two minutes, got three baskets from Johnny Green and two from Gene Auer to cut Cincinnati's lead to 119-117 with 21 seconds left. Richie Guerin then stole the ball and blazed in for a basket, only to have it disallowed for traveling. Oscar Robertson then put the Royals out of danger with two free throws only seven seconds from the end.

Robertson led all scorers with 57 points, while Guerin had 33 and Green 31 for the losers.

Wilt Chamberlain, with 54 points, paced the Warriors' comeback from behind effort over the Zephyrs. Wilt was held to 18 points in the opening half on the guarding of Woody Sauldsberry, but began to click after Sauldsberry went to the bench with five fouls early in the third period.

Walt Bellamy scored 46 and rookie Terry Dischinger 31 for the Zephyrs.

Beavers Smacks 243 Singleton

Jesse Beavers hit a 243 singleton in the Bird Couples Bowling League at Little Chute Recreation.

Glen Jansen's 594 and Paul Hietpas' 561 were the only other honor counts.

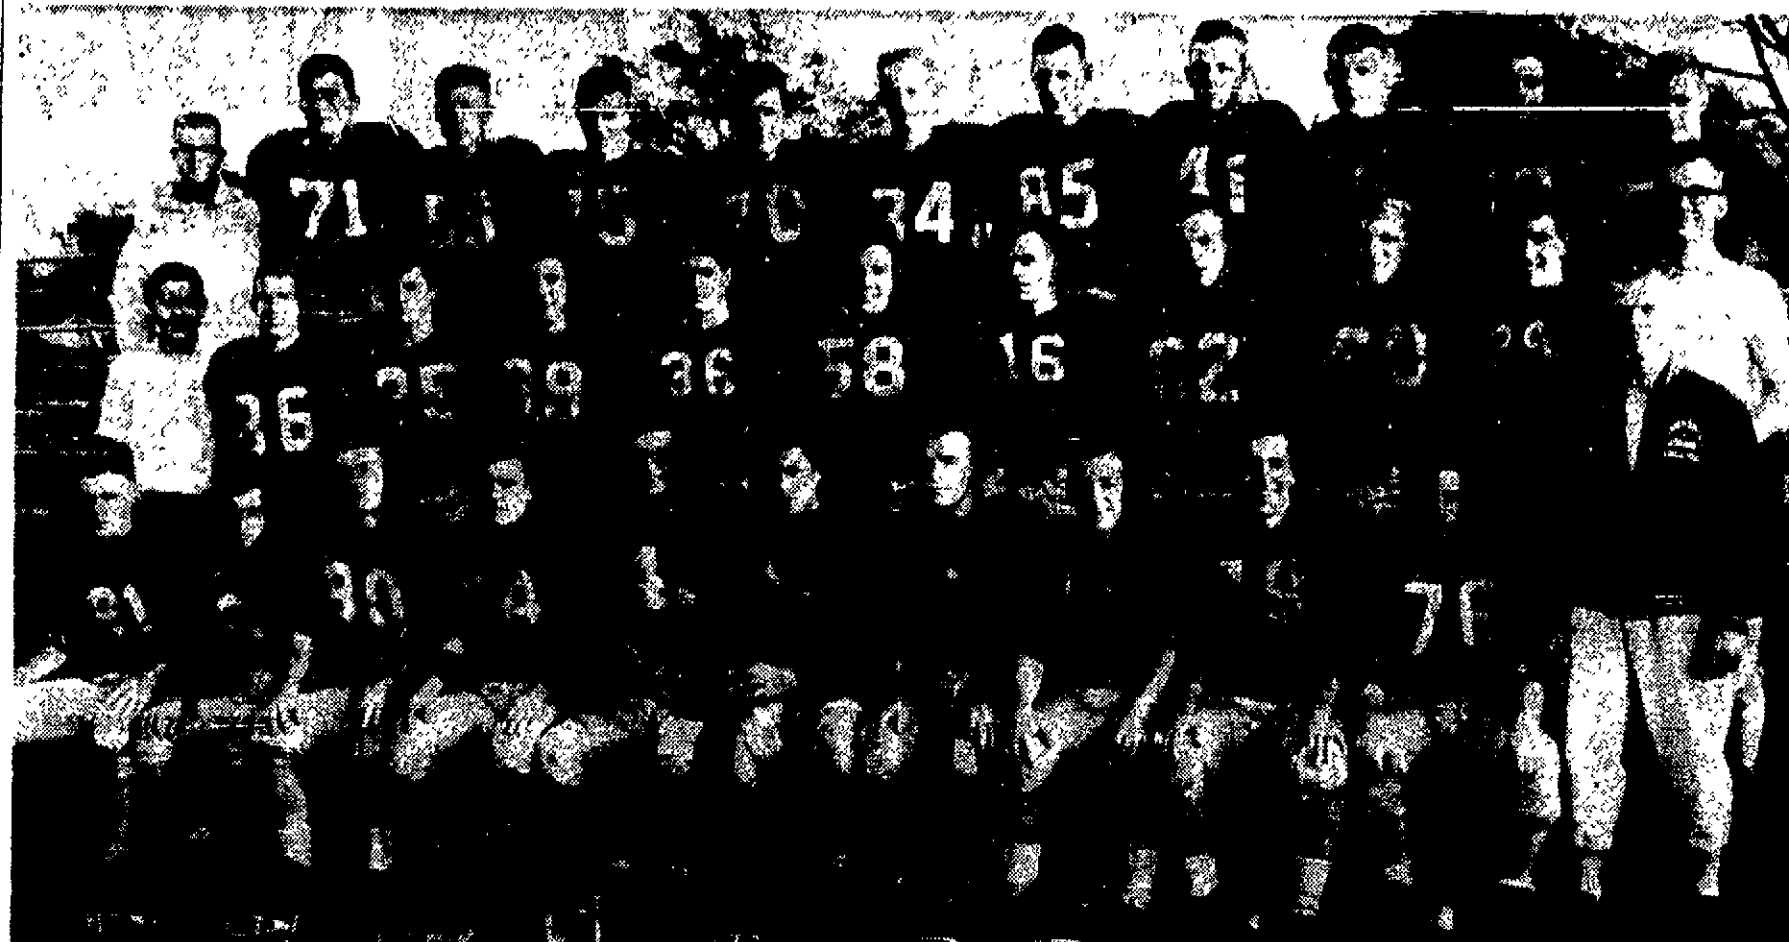

Terry Helling spanked a 587 to pace the Kimberly Continental circuit at Jerry's Lanes. Harold Nelson had a 578, Ted Maas a 558 and George Randerson a 556. Jerry's leads the teams by 1 1/2 games with a 20-10 record.

Aaron Wagman Says He Got Warning 'To Get Out of Town'

NEW YORK (AP)—Aaron Wagman, an admitted briber of college basketball players, says he was warned to get out of town for a month or two last year to avoid being called in by a grand jury investigating basketball scandals.

Wagman, a prosecution witness in the bribery trial of Jack Molinas, testified Friday that Molinas gave him that advice during the 1961 National Invitation Tournament in Madison Square Garden. Molinas, a former Columbia and professional basketball player and now a lawyer, also is accused of conspiracy in attempting to fix 25 games involving 12 colleges.

Wagman further testified that after he was arrested in March 1961, Molinas visited him in jail and told him "leave me out of it." Wagman, the prosecution's initial witness, completed four days on the stand Friday. The trial resumes Tuesday.

Joey Archer Will Meet Leahy Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—Joey Archer, a New Yorker who has lost only one fight in 32, and Mick Leahy, a red-haired Irishman from Dublin, will do the honors tonight in a 10-round middleweight match at Madison Square Garden in a nationally televised bout.

Leahy, just arrived last Sunday from Ireland where he compiled a 41-11-5 record, hopes to get off on the right foot. Eventually he wants to get a title fight with Dick Tiger, the new 160-pound champ from Nigeria.

Has Won

The Irishman has won four lost one and drawn twice this year, winning his last outing, Oct. 15 at Manchester, England from Harry Scott. He is 27.

Archer, 24, thought of retiring last year. In fact, he did hang up the gloves for a time and went in for a career of work as a longshoreman and a movie extra. Reconsidering he returned to the ring in February and promptly lost his first fight to Jose Gonzalez. Joey evened matters with the Puerto Rican later, boosting his career record to 31-1.

The fight will be carried on network (ABC) television, starting at 10 p.m. (EST). Two judges and a referee will score it by rounds, using a supplementary point system in case the rounds are even.

Oil Heater Failure Brings Nations Closer Together

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—An unintentional cold war brought several nations closer together Friday at Laurel.

The oil heater failed in a trailer provided for the two Russian jockeys in the $125,000 Washington, D.C. International horse race on Monday.

Jockey Nikolai Nasibov moved in with the Italian and German riders. Michail Rogalevich shared sleeping quarters with Yoshio No-hira, the Japanese jockey.

London Group Offers Liston $700,000 to Defend Crown

LONDON (AP)—The British Boxing Board of Control is studying the details of an offer of $700,000 to Sonny Liston to defend his heavyweight title in London next spring.

The offer is being made by committee members of the Curzon House Gaming Club in London.

Bob Barnett, spokesman for the committee, said:

"We just don't believe that only the Americans have the know-how to stage world heavyweight title fights."

Two Charities

"The new Wembley Stadium will have 80,000 seats and 20,000 standing places. We want to open it with a world title fight and give all the proceeds to two charities—the Imperial Cancer Research Fund and the Airborne Memorial Fund."

"We would like a British opponent for Liston, but if a suitable one is not available by next spring then it would have to be one of Liston's leading challengers."

"We have studied the matter very carefully. We can put up more than $1,400,000 if necessary."

"All we ask is the goodwill and full cooperation of the Boxing Board and this thing can be done. If Sonny Liston is prepared to defend his title in London there is a quarter of a million pounds ($700,000) waiting for him."

CHICAGO (AP)—P. K. Wrigley, owner of the befuddled Chicago Cubs, has a new dean in mind for his "college of coaches."

The chewing gum magnate revealed Friday night that he is considering a new candidate, one day after he fired Charlie Metro.

"I can't tell you who he is," said Wrigley in reference to the man under consideration as the Cubs' "manager," but he was "not in baseball last season. We have been negotiating with him."

Metro said in Denver that the new head coach would probably be Billy Jurges, former star Cub shortstop who later managed the Boston Red Sox.

"He's a cinch for the job," said Metro.

System of Rotation

Wrigley said the system of rotating the coaches with one man in charge at various periods would not be abandoned entirely if the new "manager" is signed.

However, this seems doubtful. Especially since Wrigley temporarily junked the plan when Metro took over June 5 and finished the season with a 43-69 record after Elvin Tappe and Lou Klein had short flings as head coach.

With the firing of Metro who Wrigley said "didn't get along with the players," and the negotiations for a new man to "take charge," the Cub owner apparently doesn't want to put any of his remaining 11 coaches in charge.

In fact, not one member of this group has been tendered a contract for 1963 and each man's status will be announced at a later date.

LUBRICATING GUNS IN COLD WEATHER

COLD WEATHER CAN STIFFEN GUN OIL SO MUCH THAT THE GUN WON'T OPERATE. GRAPHITE WON'T FREEZE, SO IT MAY BE USED ON NEW, STIFF ACTION GUNS.

BUT A USED GUN DOESN'T NEED INSIDE OILING DURING WINTER'S ACTUAL HUNTING. REMOVE FACTORY GREASE AND OLD GUN OILS FOR BEST RESULTS. DISASSEMBLE AND CLEAN GUN PARTS IN GASOLINE. WIPE DRY, THEN OIL IN A CAN OF GASOLINE. LEANING STOCK AGAINST WALL. FILL CAN. SO STOCK REMAINS ABOVE GASOLINE. WIPE DRY, LET AIR BEFORE USING. WIPE OUTSIDE PARTS WITH AN OILED CLOTH REGULARLY TO PROTECT AGAINST WEATHER.

Adler Brau '5' Nips Rechner's In AAA League

Adler Brau built up a 26-19 half-time advantage and held on to take a 47-45 victory from Rechner's as the Major AAA Appleton Recreation Department Basketball League opened action Thursday night in the Appleton High School Gym.

Bleier's trimmed Conkey's, 94-84, and Pond's topped IPC, 52-39, in other games.

Claude Radtke pumped in 40 points for Bleier's. Jim Maahs added 20 markers for the winners. Leigh Kinnamron fired in 19 points for Conkey's.

Winfield Bearce connected for 16 points for Pond's, while Bill Geenen snagged 14 for IPC.

Adler Brau used a balanced attack with Dick Dietrich leading the way with 11 points. Ken Scheuer and Tom Verkuilen each contributed 10, and Don Marx fired in seven markers.

at quarterback and a defensive backfield that is badly battered from injuries.

The Lions' sputtering offense may have its best day in five games against the sagging 49ers, who rank last in defense. San Francisco has been particularly vulnerable to a running game and the Lions will unload with Nick Pietrosante and Dan Lewis.

Rotating Quarterbacks

Detroit's defense, which has carried the team through its last five games in which the offense has gotten only five TDs, may see San Francisco's rotating quarterbacks, John Brodie, Bill Kilmer and Bobby Waters.

Harland Sware gets his first start as the Rams new head coach, where the emphasis has been to offense. Still, he must stop the improved Colts' offense that has been pepped up by the return of the running game provided by Joe Perry and Lenny Moore.

Johnny Unitas' passing threat is ever-present.

A victory by the Steelers, who will rely on their big defense to silence the improved passing of the Cards' Charley Johnson, would keep them in the Eastern race. The Bears hope to apply the clamps to Minnesota's Fran Tarkenton with their tight pass defense. The Vikings' soph quarterback has connected with 11 touchdowns in the last four games.

Paul Hornung, who has missed the last three games with his leg injury, is ready to go. The league's most valuable player undoubtedly will see some action, probably sharing the left-halfbacking with Tom Moore.

Eleven members of the last Packer team to play in Franklin Field have departed. They are Lamar Mc Han, Paul Winslow, Larry Hickman, Dale Hackbart, Em Tunnel, Dick Peronen, Tom Bettis, Andy Cvercko, John Miller, Ken Beck and Steve Meiling.

Pearson, a right-hander who also pitched for the Cleveland Indians during his major league baseball career, was convicted of accepting the bribe while chief engineer for the Madera County Health Department.

The prosecution contended he took the money for approving a defective septic tank built by a contractor.

Min Eckhart Bowls 527 in New London

Min Eckhart fired a 527 series, including a 204 singleton, in the Women's All-Star League in New London. Carol Krueger had a 198 and a 502 for runnerup honors.

There were no honor counts in the Sportsman's League at Michael's Bowl, Sherwood. The Village Bar is on top of the team standings, with an 18-9 record.

No Candidates So City Goes Without Municipal Officers

GILLET, Ark. (AP) — This town of 690 has a municipal dilemma.

No one ran for city offices in Tuesday's general election—and it will have no city officials when present terms expire in January. Mayor Joe Cloud, who served two terms, declined to run again. So did the city recorder, and all members of the City Council. Officials say a special election may be necessary when the present terms expire. Cloud offered this explanation: "Probably no one wants the worries the jobs bring."

Hearing Set on Lockage Hours

DePere, Menasha Regulations Prompt Dec. 6 Meet in Appleton

Possible changes in lockage hours on the Fox River will be aired at an informal public hearing at Appleton City Hall at 8 p.m. Dec. 6 by the Army Corps of Engineers.

The hearing is an outgrowth of a meeting in May of this year when new regulations were put in effect on the river between De

3 Appointed To Guidance Center Board

Supervisors Cut County Funds for Winnebago Unit

OSHKOSH — The county board Friday afternoon confirmed the appointments of three members of the guidance center board of directors to succeed themselves.

Named for additional terms were Mrs. Melville Thomas of Oshkosh, Supv. Ray Gisch of Neenah and Supv. Arthur E. Pollnow of Oshkosh. They were re-appointed by board chairman Joseph Drexler, Oshkosh.

The county board in its action on the 1963 budget cut $3,000 from the guidance center's budget and raised the revenues from that operation by $3,000.

"We Don't Get Answers" Supv. Hibbard Engler, Oshkosh, stated. "We ask questions but get no answers. We want them to do just as other departments now do. This should not be interpreted that we do not approve of their work, but of their procedures."

As to where some of the money cut could be obtained, Supv. E. G. Steinhilber, Oshkosh, mentioned that the Guidance Center Corp. in originally agreeing to pay the rent and janitor services for the center was providing $3,900. Now with federal aid received toward those expenses, they are paying about $2,500. "Where is the other $1,400?" he asked.

Voting against the cut in the guidance center budget were Supvs. James Coughlin, Winnebago; Ray Gischia, Paul Mueller, Alvin Staffeld and Duane Sweet, Neenah; R. M. Sensesbrenner, Harry Jankowski and William Ryan, Menasha; Laurel Heaney, Town of Neenah; Frank Metzger, Town of Clayton; and Joseph Drexler, Herbert Pitz, A. E. Pollnow and Carl Rahr, Oshkosh.

Board, Union Will Meet

Kaukauna Aldermen Plan to Discuss Contract Proposals

KAUKAUNA — The board of public works will meet with representatives of the city employee union at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday to discuss contract demands.

Two meetings with the union were held previously, the first when the union submitted its requests, a second when the public works board made counter proposals. The union met to discuss the city offer and will report on whether workers voted to reject or accept the offer.

The board is attempting to reach agreement on issues before setting up the 1963 budget. The union had requested a 10-cent per hour wage hike and the city offered a 5-cent increase.

A request for four weeks vacation with pay after 20 years of employment was denied by the city. Third major request by workers was call-in pay for the time worked in addition to the two-hour call-in pay now received.

The city countered by offering two-hour call-in time at time and one-half pay, plus time and one-half pay for hours worked over the normal call-in time. Other points in the union request were resolved at the second meeting between the parties involved.

Highest Tax Levy Okayed For Winnebago County

Total Budget of $5.1 Million Cut $475,000 at Hearings Before Getting Final Okay

OSHKOSH — The highest tax levy in Winnebago County's history was set by the county board Friday afternoon as it approved a record budget of $5,183,938.

The tax levy will be $1,825,164, or an increase of $137,014 above the levy for this year's county operations.

The levy, set at the end of the 6½-day session, was about $475,000 down from that proposed in the tentative budget.

To accomplish this reduction the board Friday transferred $175,000 from its general fund to cut back the levy. Earlier it had eliminated $300,000 for a county recreation area and $80,000 for the fairgrounds produce and all-purpose building. The latter may be financed with a short term note when ready for construction next year.

Supv. Norbert Redlin, Neenah, finance committee chairman, pointed out that only $64,000 of the increase represents a gain in capital outlay expenditures. The rest of the increase is reflected in boosts in operating expenses of the various departments and increased activities.

These increases include adoption of a surplus commodities program for welfare recipients and low income families, a home-maker program for welfare aid persons, expansion of the county traffic police and the addition of a third court during the last year, the full impact of which will be felt in the coming year as to cost and equipment.

Capital Outlays

Also included in the budget as part of the capital outlay are $150,000 for the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center addition, $39,500 for purchase of the Geer-Murray, Inc., building next to the courthouse, $20,000 for new boilers for the courthouse, $51,321 for improvements at the county hospital, $11,702 for Pleasant Acres Home improvements and $13,500 for work at Sunny View Sanatorium.

The capital outlays also include $15,000 for an economic and engineering study of the airport and legal consultant fees for the Civil Aeronautics Board hearing, $5,000 for architect's fees to design the fairgrounds produce hall building and $10,000 for replacement of the county-owned police squad cars.

General government costs total $395,648 which is about $19,000 lower than that in the proposed budget but $69,000 above those for this year. Insurance costs were cut back about $7,000 and the three branches of the county court a total of $16,750 approximately.

Police Force Expansion Budgeted for protection of person and property is $263,565, up about $28,500 from those estimated for this year and up $260 from that originally proposed for the next year. Expansion of the county traffic police by three men and the addition of a chief deputy to replace the undersheriff are the major budget additions.

Health and sanitation costs of $127,244 are down about $15,000 from this year's budget but up $6,000 over the original budget for 1963. The cost of patient care

Part Time Official

Waupaca School Superintendent Will Work Nights and Saturday

WAUPACA — Members of the county board Friday morning said they liked the arrangement of having George Barber, former county county superintendent of schools, work as a part-time school superintendent.

Barber, who is employed as curriculum co-ordinator and supervisor with the newly organized Little Wolf School District, Manawa, said he would work evenings and Saturdays as county superintendent until other arrangements are made.

His salary will be $150 per month. He said he would be able to handle the job because of his sufficient staff and the work will not interfere with his duties at Manawa.

Outagamie County this week rejected a proposal by Angus Rothwell, state school superintendent, to merge the two county superintendents offices with the Outagamie County superintendent of schools, Henry Van Straten, in charge of both counties.

Previously, Winnebago County rejected a similar jointure with Waupaca County.

Supv. Carl Strum, Manawa, board chairman, reported Rothwell agreed to the arrangement on a temporary basis. Rothwell, Sturm said, plans to join Waupaca with another county even if he has to skip over a county or two to complete the merger.

Barber said he would continue with the arrangement until "you don't need me or don't want me." He explained he will not be able to continue the contacts of teachers and schools during the day but will be available for night meetings as county superintendent.

Barber mentioned legislation is pending to abolish the offices of county school superintendent in 1965.

Annual Report Barber's annual report indicated there were 125 rural schools, nine graded schools and four high schools with a total of 191 teachers under the county's superintendent in 1962. That number has been reduced to six rural schools, three graded schools and two high schools at the present time.

Consolidation of districts brought about the changes. He said Manawa's new school district voted itself out of the county's jurisdiction. He said cities with a population of 1,000 and a consolidated school district can vote themselves out of the county superintendent's jurisdiction.

He mentioned the Weyauwega Union High School district may consolidate in the near future and withdraw from the county superintendent's jurisdiction, which will leave only the Iola - Scandinavia school district under the control of the office.

Iola - Scandinavia can not withdraw under the present laws because Iola's population is less than 1,000.

Winnebago's Share of Housing Fund $78,901

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County received $78,901 recently as its quarterly housing-fund allocation from the State of Wisconsin.

Eligible to borrow money from this amount, for residential building purposes, are Wisconsin veterans who were either inducted or enlisted in the state, or have been residents for 10 years.

Veterans who received bonuses from other states are not eligible at this time for any Wisconsin housing funds.

Juvenile Court

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County Juvenile Court Judge James Sarres studied juvenile court procedures in St. Louis, Mo. Judge Sarres spent one day observing the court and intake worker procedure and toured detention facilities.

The first building was said to have cost about $3,000 and was constructed of lumber cut from a stand of timber growing on the area where the City Hall is now located. In 1900, according to the corner stone, the building was completely remodeled by adding a new bell tower and entrance and brick veneer. The pulpit and choir were moved to a corner and curved pews were installed. Several rooms were arranged for Sunday school facilities.

The major enlargement of the building was in 1926-27 under the leadership of Rev. E. M. Salter. The Christian Education section of 15 rooms was added at that time, in addition to other modern improvements such as steam heat instead of the old "pipeless" furnace for the sanctuary. The Christian education wing was dedicated in March, 1927, at the 75th anniversary services.

Six Ministers

Six young men have served as ministers from the church. Currently Robert Eads is a professor at Colgate Rochester Seminary in New York, John Dennert a pastor in Cedarburg, Wis., Suzanne Powers is teaching at a mission school in India and Jane Zimmerman McKinnon has been working in Taiwan. One former pastor, the Rev. Robert Fulop, is a university teacher in Japan.

Mrs. Merritt Miller is preparing a display of clippings and items of church history. Former members have been invited to the university activities.

County Judge Gustave J. Keller explains the workings of a court to Girl Scouts from six troops who paid a visit to him in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2. The girls were from Troop 24 and Troop 271 at Wilson Junior High School, Troop 268 and Troop 199 at Roosevelt Junior High School, Troop 264 at Madison

Junior High School, and Troop 45 at St. Mary School. Some 45 of the Girl Scouts have visited budget hearings, candidates' meetings and the courts, and learned how to use voting machines, as part of their work on government and community badges. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

SHOULD VIOLENCE IN TV SHOWS BE REDUCED?
YES ☐ NO ☐

We will give a qualified yes, but with many reservations. Because we live in a dangerous world, we are all anxious. Because we are anxious, we often feel hostile. We need some way to relieve our feelings. In the bone-crushing violence of TV, we get a chance to relieve our feelings without actually having to attack anyone else. Perhaps this enables us to be less unpleasant to other members of the family. What do you think?

The meanings of things: Change—Remain the same—Change. The Liberty Bell was just an ordinary bell until it rang out the news of the Declaration of Independence. Gettysburg and Waterloo were just sleepy towns until they became the scenes of great battles. New and different experiences with people and things are indications that their meanings change for us. When people are unable to change the meaning of things, we call it a fixation in need of psychiatric treatment.

Make the superior child stay with his grade.

Good—Bad—
Bad. Half of the gifted children that Professor Terman studied said they faced some disadvantages in being allowed to get through school faster than their age-mates. But objective tests showed that the superior students who were accelerated had better social adjustment, mental health, vocational success and marital happiness than those who were forced to remain with their age-mates whom they outstripped intellectually. It is generally agreed that it is best for each child to be free to develop at his own rate.

Everybody Wins When You Play a Game of 'You Win'

BY CAPPY DICK

Every player who wins the game of "You Win," which is today's fun-project, is entitled to as many pieces of candy as he can scoop up in one hand. That's why this game is a lot of fun to play at a party.

Equipment needed consists of a bowl of candy kisses (or any other small, wrapped candies), a piece of paper big enough for a 24-inch circle to be drawn on it, and a cloth to be used as a blindfold.

Place the paper bearing the circle (see Figure 1) on a table. At a nearby table place a bowl of candy.

The players take turns being blindfolded. Apply the blindfold while the player is standing near the bowl of candy, first letting him take one piece to carry with him as a marker.

When the blindfold is in place, turn him around three times. He is then to try to find his way to the table where the paper has been placed. Most players will be able to locate the table after shuffling around for a few minutes.

The blindfolded player's next problem is to try to place his piece of candy on the table so it lands within the 24-inch circle. He must leave it as the very spot where it first touches the table. If he succeeds in landing it within the circle, all the other players shout, "You win!" The blindfold is removed and he is allowed to go to the candy bowl and scoop up as many pieces as he can hold in one hand.

However, if he places his piece of candy outside the circle, he wins nothing except the right to eat the one piece of candy he used as a marker. The blindfold is removed from his eyes and is applied to the next player. Continue until every player has had a chance to be a winner.

New Holstein Man Arrested Friday Following Auto Chase

CHILTON — A New Holstein man, released from the Green Bay reformatory 11 days ago, was arrested by city police after a brief but high speed chase about 11:20 p.m. Friday.

Police Sgt. Dan Albedyll said he saw Eugene H. Zierer, 22, leaving an E. Main Street tavern and look into a parked car. Aware of Zierer's past record of car theft, Albedyll said he stepped in an alley and watched while Zierer examined three more cars before locating one with the ignition keys in it.

Zierer started the 1959 model auto owned by Thomas Schierl, 131 Reed St., and sped east on Main Street with Albedyll in pursuit. Zierer circled several downtown blocks and then was forced to the curb by Albedyll on E. Main Street. Zierer was booked on suspicion of auto theft.

He was released Oct. 29 from the reformatory where he served a one year term for auto theft in Outagamie County.

Car Derailed Friday Night At Menasha

MENASHA — Crews from the Milwaukee Road and Soo Line railroads were at work today to lay a new track on their joint tracks near the Menasha utility steam plant and Marathon Division plant off River Street as the result of a derailment about 9 p.m. Friday.

Part of the center frame of a boxcar on a Soo Line train broke off and broke the rail, causing the derailment of one car and a pair of trucks on each of two other cars. None of the cars were turned and they were replaced onto the tracks about 9 a.m. today.

The accident happened at the crossing switch at the south end of the bridge over the boat canal, blocking the Water Street crossing. Crossings on the island were opened Friday night but those north of the scene remained closed because there were no engines on the side north of the canal to remove the cars immediately.

Winnebago Budget Approved by Board at Sunny View Sanatorium is the main reason for the decrease with next year's cost for that expense being down $14,000.

Education costs are up about $11,000 to $271,901 for next year, of which $11,585 is for the Wolf River Regional Planning Commission, a cost not included in this year's budget.

This budget also includes $175,000 for aid to common schools, $20,000 for the county library, $29,685 for the county agriculture department, $14,603 for operating costs of the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center and about $6,000 for operations of the county parks at Winneconne, Eureka and on Lake Poygan.

Airport operating costs are budgeted for next year at $37,311, up $5,000 from this year and unchanged from the original budget.

$3 Million For Charities
Total cost for the welfare department and charities and corrections is $2,971,755, an increase of about $350,000. This includes also the guidance center, county hospital and Pleasant Acres Home operations, veterans service officer and the state charges for persons hospitalized or institutionalized in state facilities.

The board cut $3,000 from the guidance center budget Friday afternoon and raised the revenues $2,000 to meet a $5,000 budget reduction requested by the personnel committee. The cut in the guidance center budget carried by a 33 to 14 vote.

Indebtedness costs were placed at $97,537 for next year, down about $1,300. County hospital bonds outstanding as of December will total $600,000. The county retires $75,000 in bonds each year.

Highway costs come to $566,505 which is down $33,000 from this year, principally because of the heavy snow removal cost encountered this year. This budget includes $470,325 for work on county trunks, $60,000 for snow removal, $22,930 for administration costs and $13,250 for aid to bridges.

Unclassified costs of $134,950 include retirement fund and social security costs and hospital and life insurance premium payments. This is up about $4,300.

Anticipated revenues is $3,208,774 which is up about $200,000 from those expected this year. The main increases are in state welfare aids, fees and costs and a higher utility tax.

Book Display For Children Is At Library

Children will have an opportunity to meet their favorite characters in a "Wonderful World of Books" displayed at the Appleton Public Library during National Children's Book Week Nov. 11 to 17.

The display, which will be up for the rest of the month, will present larger-than-life-size figures of famed characters from children's literature — Cinderella, Alice in Wonderland, Mother Goose, Robin Hood, Tom Sawyer, Humpty-Dumpty, Black Sambo and his tiger, Christopher Robin and Winnie the Pooh, Raggedy Ann and Andy.

Draw Figures
The figures were drawn by Marie Jakl, Kaukauna, assistant librarian, and painted by Barbara Casper.

A presentation of the play "Elsie in Bookland" at 2 p.m. Saturday will bring to a close the observance of Children's Book Week. Girl Scout Troop 177 from Washington School will put on the play. Mrs. Wallace Satorius is troop leader.

Miss Bonnie Harris, children's librarian, is encouraging class visits to the library during Children's Book Week, to acquaint the pupils with the services of the children's department.

A Time To Remember Who We Are

Let us be grateful for our heritage. For a little pride is the wellspring of courage. Let us endure unflinchingly whatever sacrifices we are called upon to make to defend our free institutions from the night of communism, which is bent on undermining our faith in ourselves. Let us rely not only on the gold in our vaults, but the iron in our blood. And let us cling like ivy to the faith of our fathers until, in God's good time, all men are free.

Star-Studded Show To Launch Fund Drive

$30 Million Goal Set to Build Center
For Performing Arts in Washington

BY JINGO

The national drive for funds for a cultural center in Washington, D. C., will be started at 3:30 p.m. tomorrow when Channel 5 airs a taped visit with Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy at the White House.

The First Lady is co-chairman with Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower of the national drive for $30 million to be used to create the first permanent national home for the performing arts in the nation's capital. The center is planned for a 13-acre site donated by Congress near the Lincoln Memorial.

Other portions of the hour-long program will include appearances by Robert Frost, Mahalia Jackson, the Boston Symphony Orchestra, the Bolshoi Ballet, the Rome Opera performing "Aida," the Mormon Tabernacle Choir, the University of Minnesota Drama School students, the Cleveland Playhouse company, the special dancing group from Pakistan and the National Players of Washington.

Jingo

The latter performers should be of special interest to Fox Cities area viewers. On Wednesday the troupe of drama graduates of Catholic University of America will appear at St. Norbert College in a performance of Shakespeare's "Othello."

The DePere performance will be a part of the 14th tour of this distinguished company.

Veteran Lead

The title role will be carried by David Sabin, a veteran of three National Player tours. He has a wide experience in the theater appearing with, in addition to the National Players, the County Line Playhouse in Indiana, the Olney Theater in Maryland and the St. Michael's Playhouse in Vermont. During these appearances he has done everything from Shakespeare and Greek tragedies and comedy to modern plays and musical comedy.

Opposite the jealous Moor will be Richard Bauer as the crafty Iago. Bauer is making his first appearance with the National Players, but he has been acting since he was a child when he was a member of the Children's Theater of St. Louis University. His credits include appearances at St. Louis University, the Manistee Summer Theater in Michigan, the Belfry Theater in Lake Geneva, Wis., Catholic University, St. Michael's Playhouse and the Newport Playhouse in Rhode Island.

The "Othello" performance at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday is the first of the St. Norbert College Fine Arts Series.

A fine arts series closer to home will bring top-flight artists to Menasha. The program opens Nov.

Joey Alfidi, 13, pianist-composer-conductor who will be going to Brussels to study music under the protection and guidance of Belgian Queen Mother Elisabeth, is shown in his yonkers, N. Y., home holding a picture of his benefactor. Shown with the youngster are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Alfidi, and his brother, Frank Jr. (AP Wirephoto) with the outstanding program of pianist Eugene List and violinist Carroll Glenn. List may be remembered as the young serviceman musician who entertained Truman and Stalin at Potsdam during World War II.

The other programs include baritone Theodor Uppman of the Metropolitan Opera, the celebrated Orchestra San Pietro of Naples, Italy, and the Robert DeCormier Folk Singers.

The first attempt in some time to bring a community concert series to the Twin Cities is assured of success, since the subscription by poisoning from gases or vacuum campaign assures all of these performers full poisoning. Firearms caused 18 deaths.

Accidents in Home Claimed 498 Lives

MADISON (AP) — Accidents in homes claimed 498 lives in Wisconsin in 1961, the health education division of the State Board of Health reported today.

Most of the victims were adults in the 65 and older bracket. These numbered 266. Babies up to 4 years ranked second with 89.

Falls caused the most fatalities. Sixty-seven died in fires or explosions. There were 20 deaths of success, since the subscription by poisoning from gases or vacuum campaign assures all of these performers full poisoning. Firearms caused 18 deaths.

Iola Water Plant Cost Estimates Set Price at $386,000

Increase of $6.10 in Taxes Seen
If Proposed Utility Is Approved

IOLA — Estimated costs and suggestions for financing a proposed water system for the village of Iola were presented at an advisory hearing the American Legion hall in Iola Tuesday evening. The figures were prepared by the McMahon Engineering Co., the firm in charge of the sewer installation in the village a number of years ago.

The estimated costs of installing a water system covering the entire village would be $386,000 including all construction costs, administrative expense, bond interest, and legal, engineering and inspection fees. The spokesman said the project could cost less, that the estimate was made high to make sure there would be no added unexpected costs later.

Plan Flexible — They also said their plans were flexible, that the board could decide whether to complete the entire system or any part of it, but that the promise of 200 customers would be needed to begin the work.

The plan suggested for financing would include $25,000 in cash on hand, $114,000 in special assessments, $217,000 in revenue bonds, and $30,000 in general obligation bonds. A raise of $6.10 per thousand in the tax rate would be required to cover the expenses.

Other costs to individuals, according to the proposed plans, would include 50 cents per lineal foot of frontage, $300 connection charge, and the cost of laying pipes from the property line to the building. Connection costs would be $500 to schools and factories.

Suggest Charge — The annual charge for water suggested was $48. It was noted, in response to a question from the audience, that no one can be forced by law to connect to the water utility, though they can be compelled to connect to the sewer utility.

In the board's business meeting following the hearing, the board named Nov. 27 as the date for the annual budget hearing, and discussed possible projects to be provided for in the budget.

New London Assessment Rates Hiked

Installment Plan
Interest Increased
To 6 Per Cent

NEW LONDON — Council members increased interest rates on special assessments paid on the installment plan to 6 per cent at a meeting of the council Wednesday.

The interest rate on special assessments has been 3 per cent. They also voted to have payments made no later than Dec. 31 of each year.

Two petitions for curb and gutter were referred to the board of public works for study. These petitions were for curb and gutter on Lawrence Street, from Martin Street to Winifred Street, and for Winifred Street, from S. Pearl Street to Lawrence Street.

A report on the inspection of the steam boiler at the city garage was read and placed on file.

The sewage disposal report for the month of Oct. also was read and placed on file.

Petition Accepted — A petition from members of New London Aviation, Inc., Pilots Club for an appropriation to be placed in the 1963 budget was accepted and turned over to the planning commission for study.

Paul Kamke, representing the club, told council members that the organization was not necessarily asking for assistance to help maintain the airport owned by the club but was asking for the appropriation to be set aside so that the city could eventually have its own airport for industrial and private airplanes.

At the present time, the petition read, the cost to operate the club owned airport is about $400 per year, which includes the rent for the land. The airport boasts two 2,700-foot sod runways and facilities for light aircraft. The club operates the airstrip through club memberships and an annual fly-in.

No Mail Delivery

MANAWA — Postmaster Leonard Goetz has announced there will be no rural route mail delivery Monday. City mail will be delivered, and the post office lobby will be open all day.

Name Mayor Head Of Public Works

City Clerk Elected Secretary
Of New Board at Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — Mayor Frank Sinkewicz was elected president of the newly-created board of public works at its organizational meeting recently.

Other members of the board are Ald. Ed Wanta, chairman of the street committee; Ald. Arthur Kaphingst, chairman of the sewer committee, and Ald. Clarence Barker, chairman of the public property committee. City Clerk Lloyd Eggleston acts as secretary of the board.

Policies of the board governing future public works projects in the city were discussed. Basil Arvey, public works director, reviewed the projects completed during the summer and other work which is in progress but should be completed before the winter season.

Work Ends — Work on the cross runway at municipal airport has ended for the year. A four inch crushed aggregate has been spread over the 3,300 by 100 foot facility. In the spring, two inches will be added with three more inches on each end of the runway. All underground wiring has been installed. Lights will be installed after the two inch blacktop surface is completed.

Storm sewer installation has been completed on an 800 foot stretch of First Street, and other installations will include 500 feet on Modoc Street, 200 feet on Bennett Street, and 300 feet on Third Street.

Other storm sewer installations will be on Ninth Street from Hemlock Street to Main Street, S. Clinton Avenue from Ninth to Tenth Streets, Pearl Street from N. Clinton Avenue to Harriet Street, and Roberts Street from Sixteenth Street to Grant Street.

Curb, Gutter Installed — Arvey reported that all curb and gutter has been installed. Work was done on Twelfth Street by the Post Office, Fourth Street from Bennett to Modoc Streets, Ninth Street from Hemlock to S. Clinton Avenue, Auto Street from First Street to the Municipal Swimming Pool, Grove Street from Walnut to Harriet Street.

About 650 feet in small stretches throughout the city have been repaired.

All streets in Walter A. Olen and Buchholz parks have been paved. Other thoroughfares paved were River Street from Sixteenth to Fifteenth Street, Willow Street from Pearl to Elm Street, Lens Court from Eighth to Ninth Street, Rohrer Street from Mills Street 300 feet east to the end of the curb and gutter, and Second Street from Modoc to Bennett Street.

Also completed were Garfield Avenue from Fifteenth to S. Park Street, and Eleventh Street to the end of the street.

Other Paving — Other work included the paving of a 500 by 700 foot area of Eighth Street near the Athletic Field, building dugouts, the Marvin "Mike" Nelson Memorial Press box and moving the bleachers, erecting the open-air shelter and grading and seeding the ball park at Buchholz park.

All dead wood was removed from trees in Buchholz park, a boat landing dock was built off Hemlock Street, and the parking lot was graveled near the new bridge on the Pigeon River. Paving will be done next year, Arvey said.

About 30 sewer and water service connections were installed on Nineteenth Street from McKinley Avenue to Roberts Street, on N. Clinton Avenue from Eighteenth Street to Green Tree Road, and E. First Street from S. Main Street to Auto Street.

Shiocton Schools Plan Parent-Teacher Talks

SHIOCTON — The Shiocton School System will have parent-teacher conferences and visiting a night during American Education Week, Nov. 11-17.

Parents have been asked to visit the schools. Lunch will be available in the afternoon and evenings.

Support 19 Children — There were 19 dependent, neglected and delinquent children in the county cared for in 12 foster homes by authorized child welfare agencies.

There are 30 lawfully organized cemetery associations under the jurisdiction of the court, 50 criminal cases and 44 cases disposed of during the period of the report. There were 125 criminal cases, of which 71 were disposed of previous to the time of the new report. There were 460 civil actions filed in the court since its reorganization. A total of 162 had been filed during the period covered by the new report. There were 124 cases disposed of during the report period.

There were 109 small claims actions filed. A total of 94 were disposed of through Oct. 31. There are about 279 guardianships of minors and incompetents.

Omro Woman County's 18th Traffic Death

OSHKOSH — Mrs. Clarence Belkye, 34, route 1, Omro, died Thursday morning at Mercy Hospital of injuries received in a one-car crash early Tuesday morning at County Trunk K and State 116. She was Winnebago County's 18th traffic fatality of the year.

Mrs. Belkye, who was driving west, apparently failed to make the turn off County Trunk K, which dead-ends at State 116. Her car crossed the state highway and hit an embankment. She suffered a skull fracture.

Brillion Students To Give Program On Veterans' Day

BRILLION — The Brillion High School forensics and music departments will present a school assembly program Monday to commemorate Veterans' Day. The American Legion Firing Squad will give a salute on the school lawn.

Mrs. Ruben Laack is coaching the speakers. The band will be conducted by Bruce Messner and the chorus and glee clubs by Miss Janice Steiner.

Winnebago May Build Home for Aged in 5 Years

Institutions Committee Tells Board Building May be Needed

OSHKOSH — A new home for the aged, possibly within the next five years, seems to be in the offing for Winnebago County. County Board members were advised by the institutions committee Thursday afternoon.

The committee reported that the division of hospitals and related services of the Wisconsin State Board of Health said that Pleasant Acres is fulfilling its obligations to the county.

"However, they recommend that we replace this building with a new one in the foreseeable future. Your committee concurs with this recommendation, and 000. "Again the county would have the problem of converting an old building, which is difficult, and expensive as we have learned from Pleasant Acres.

"The staffing of a dual operation is more complex than a single purpose treatment hospital. Consideration has been given to putting overflow of Pleasant Acres and maximum care residents into Sunny View," the report cited.

The committee said it decided not to recommend converting the existing sanatorium to a dual operation because of the high cost. Fond du Lac County's decision and the duplication of existing public and private present facilities.

Postpone Conversion — The committee reported that Fond du Lac County, which pays,

School Chief Will Continue Part Time

Waupaca Superintendent Plans
To Work Nights, Saturdays
Until County Ends His Service

WAUPACA — Members of the county board Friday morning said they liked the arrangement of having George Barber, former county superintendent of schools, work as a part-time school superintendent.

Barber, who is employed as curriculum co-ordinator and supervisor with the newly organized Little Wolf School District, Manawa, said he would work evenings and Saturdays as county superintendent until other arrangements are made.

His salary will be $150 per month. He said he would be able to handle the job because of his sufficient staff and the work will not interfere with his duties at Manawa.

Outagamie County this week rejected a proposal by Angus Rothwell, state school superintendent, to merge the two county superintendents offices with the Outagamie County superintendent of schools, Henry Van Straten, in charge of both counties.

Offer Rejected — Previously, Winnebago County rejected a similar jointure with Waupaca County.

Supv. Carl Strum, Manawa, board chairman, reported Rothwell agreed to the arrangement on a temporary basis. Rothwell, Sturm said, plans to join Waupaca with another county even if he has to skip over a county or two to complete the merger.

Barber said he would continue with the arrangement until "you don't need me or don't want me." He explained he will not be able to continue the contacts of teachers and schools during the day but will be available for night meetings as county superintendent.

Barber mentioned legislation is pending to abolish the offices of county school superintendents in 1965.

Annual Report — Barber's annual report indicated there were 125 rural schools, nine graded schools and four high schools with a total of 191 teachers under the county's superintendent in 1927. That number has been reduced to six rural schools, three graded schools and two high schools at the present time. Consolidation of districts brought about the changes.

He said Manawa's new school district voted itself out of the county's jurisdiction. He said cities with a population of 1,000 and a consolidated school district can vote themselves out of the county superintendent's jurisdiction.

He mentioned the Weyauwega Union High School district may consolidate in the near future and withdraw from the county superintendent's jurisdiction, which will leave only the Iola - Scandinavia school district under the control of the office.

Iola - Scandinavia can not withdraw under the present laws because Iola's population is less than 1,000.

Community Cooperation Reduces Juvenile Court Cases, Judge Says

Waupaca County Jurist Urges Board
To Study Costs of Madison Hospital

WAUPACA — County and Juvenile Judge Wendell McHenry Thursday morning told the county board there are fewer juvenile cases brought to court because of the effectiveness of the county welfare department and the cooperation of communities in Waupaca County.

Judge McHenry, in his annual report, noted there were 57 children in juvenile court during 1962 as compared with 71 in 1961 and 106 in 1960. He added, however, there have been many informal conferences in his chambers deciding if formal hearings were necessary. "The communities themselves are doing a better job," he told the board.

He told the board of the savings in sending patients to the University of Wisconsin Hospital, Madison, rather than to other hospitals in the county. He said the county's share per patient day at the university hospital is $15.82, which he said, is about the average cost of providing a room in one of the county hospitals.

No Fees — Judge McHenry said the difference is there are no professional fees at the university hospital and there is a chance some of the hospital bills can be collected by the county. He said attending physicians also receive comprehensive reports on the medical condition of their patients from the university hospital.

The county court handled about 85 per cent of the cases which normally would have been forwarded to the Circuit Court before the court reorganization.

Judge McHenry said one of the major problems facing the county is the future of juveniles who are dropping out of school. He said some are retarded and can not attend vocational schools.

He said a large number of the 5.5 million people unemployed did not finish high school and did not learn trades for the highly technical and mechanical era in which we are living.

Driver School Success — He also reported the success of the first Driver Safety School at Manawa. He said all who were convicted of driving violations before being sent to the school had passing marks from 80 to 92. He read their remarks on completion of the course. Most of the students agreed the course was helpful, he said. Only one said it was a waste of time.

During the year there were 221 new estates, wills and special administrations, 26 guardianships, 16 adoptions, 93 joint tenancies and life estates terminated, three certificates of descent established, 39 commitments to the university hospital, including children committed to the Wisconsin Orthopedic hospital for treatment; one commitment to a local hospital and 11 commitments to tuberculosis sanatoriums.

There were 36 commitments of mentally ill, mentally infirm, mentally deficient and inebriates. In addition to the 38 mental patients, there were numerous voluntary patients who entered the Winnebago State hospital and in each instance the legal settlement was checked by the court.

There were 14 special dispensations for marriage licenses, six applications for occupational driver's license, 16 transfers of motor vehicles and no applications to establish age, place of birth and parentage.

Support 19 Children — There were 19 dependent, neglected and delinquent children in the county cared for in 12 foster homes by authorized child welfare agencies.

There are 30 lawfully organized cemetery associations under the jurisdiction of the court, 50 criminal cases and 44 cases disposed of during the period of the report.

There were 125 criminal cases, of which 71 were disposed of previous to the time of the new report. There were 460 civil actions filed in the court since its reorganization. A total of 162 had been filed during the period covered by the new report. There were 124 cases disposed of during the report period.

There were 109 small claims actions filed. A total of 94 were disposed of through Oct. 31. There are about 279 guardianships of minors and incompetents.

Executive Urges Education Program

Would Create Understanding of Part Business Has in National Life

A public educational campaign in wheat, or coal, or iron, or other commodities, he declared. Efficient understanding of the role of business in national life. Howard should determine wages, he said. M. Packard, president of S. C. Johnson and Son, Inc., Racine, organized this fact through profit sharing plans.

Packard addressed the Fox Valley Chapter of the Society for Advancement of Management at the Appleton Elks Club. The chapter observed "Bosses Night."

Among other things, Packard said a new theory about wages is needed. About the turn of the century, he said, employers had it all their own way and many of them were short-sighted.

"Employers still think too much about the market supply of labor," he said. People are not understanding about business, Packard explained. Business has become a political "taboo" and many people talk and act as if the public welfare would be better off if business disappeared.

"Business is still living under the shadow of the great depression," he said. Some unscrupulous financial leaders and "crooks" have given business a bad name, he said, but the fact remains that the basic interests of business and the basic interests of the public welfare are identical.

Packard's wife and son, James, who is a student at Lawrence College, attended the dinner session. Among the guests was Prof. Frank Reighard of the University of Wisconsin, regional vice president of the Society for Advancement of Management.

The next SAM session will be held Jan. 10 at the Branch River Country Club at Manitowoc. Dr. Ralph G. Nichols, of the University of Minnesota, will speak on "Barriers to Communication."

New Holstein Man Arrested Friday Following Auto Chase

CHILTON — A New Holstein man, released from the Green Bay reformatory 11 days ago, was arrested by city police after a brief but high speed chase about 11:20 p.m. Friday.

Police Sgt. Dan Albeydyl said he saw Eugene H. Zierer, 22, leaving an E. Main Street tavern and look into a parked car. Aware of Zierer's past record of car theft, Albeydyl said he stepped in to an alley and watched while Zierer examined three more cars before locating one with the ignition keys in it.

Zierer started the 1959 model auto owned by Thomas Schierl, 131 Reed St., and sped east on Main Street with Albeydyl in pursuit. Zierer circled several downtown blocks and then was forced to the curb by Albeydyl on E. Main Street. Zierer was booked on suspicion of auto theft.

He was released Oct. 29 from the reformatory where he served a one year term for auto theft in Outagamie County.

Highest Tax Levy Approved By Winnebago County Board

Total Budget of $5.1 Million Cut $475,000 During Hearings

OSHKOSH — The highest tax levy in Winnebago County's history was set by the county board Friday afternoon as it approved a record budget of $5,183,938.

The tax levy will be $1,825,164, or an increase of $137,014 above the levy for this year's county operations.

The levy, set at the end of the 6½-day session, was about $475,000 down from that proposed in the tentative budget.

To accomplish this reduction the board Friday transferred $175,000 from its general fund to cut back the levy. Earlier it had eliminated $300,000 for a county recreation area and $80,000 for the fairgrounds produce and all-purpose building. The latter may be financed with a short term note when ready for construction next year.

Supv. Norbert Redlin, Neenah, finance committee chairman, pointed out that only $64,000 of the increase represents a gain in capital outlay expenditures. The rest of the increase is reflected in boosts in operating expenses of the various departments and increased activities.

These increases include adoption of a surplus commodities program for welfare recipients and low income families, a home-maker program for welfare aid persons, expansion of the county traffic police and the addition of a third court during the last year, the full impact of which will be felt in the coming year as to cost and equipment.

Capital Outlays Also included in the budget as part of the capital outlay are $150,000 for the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center addition, $39,500 for purchase of the Geer-Murray, Inc., building next to the courthouse, $20,000 for new boilers for the courthouse, $51,321 for improvements at the county hospital, $11,702 for Pleasant Acres Home improvements and $13,500 for work at Sunny View Sanatorium.

The two companies agreed to the exchange of Dean Milk's common shares for the common stock of the principal share holders of the Green Bay firm, according to a joint statement today by presidents of the companies. Green Bay Foods is headed by Leslie J. Kelly; the Illinois firm's president is Howard M. Dean.

Dean Milk distributes fresh milk, ice cream, a dairy product for automatic vending machines and evaporated milk in Midwestern states including Wisconsin. A state outlet is located in Madison.

Green Bay Foods, founded in 1962, markets its products under Budlong, Heifetz, Manhattan, Madison and Peter Piper labels. Its sales last year topped $8 million.

Presently there are close to 400 employees at the local plant with an annual payroll approaching $1 million.

Dean said the purchase of the stock of the local firm is a step to diversify and extend the Dean Milk operations into other branches of food processing.

Kelly, speaking for his company's stockholders, said the stock exchange would provide product diversification and merchandising strengths beneficial to both firms.

Kelly said no changes in personnel are planned.

This budget also includes $175,

000 for aid to common schools, $20,000 for the county library, $29,685 for the county agriculture department, $14,603 for operating costs of the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center and about $6,000 for operations of the county parks at Winneconne, Eureka and on Lake Poygan.

Airport operating costs are budgeted for next year at $37,311, up $5,000 from this year and unchanged from the original budget.

$3 Million For Charities

Total cost for the welfare department and charities and corrections is $2,971,795, an increase of about $350,000. This includes also the guidance center, county hospital and Pleasant Acres Home operations, veterans service officer and the state charges for persons hospitalized or institutionalized in state facilities.

The board cut $3,000 from the guidance center budget Friday afternoon and raised the revenues $2,000 to meet a $5,000 budget reduction requested by the personnel committee. The cut in the guidance center budget carried by a 33 to 14 vote.

Indebtedness costs were placed at $87,537 for next year, down about $1,300. County hospital bonds outstanding as of December will total $800,000. The county retires $75,000 in bonds each year.

Highway costs come to $566,505 which is down $33,000 from this year, principally because of the heavy snow removal cost encountered this year. This budget includes $470,325 for work on county trunks, $60,000 for snow removal, $22,930 for administration costs and $13,250 for aid to bridges.

Unclassified costs of $134,950 include retirement fund and social security costs and hospital and life insurance premium payments. This is up about $4,300.

Anticipated in revenues is $3,208,774 which is up about $200,000 from those expected this year. The main increases are in state welfare aids, fees and costs and a higher utility tax.

A Time To Remember Who We Are

Let us be grateful for our heritage. For a little pride is the wellspring of courage. Let us endure unflinchingly whatever sacrifices we are called upon to make to defend our free institutions from the night of communism, which is bent on undermining our faith in ourselves. Let us rely not only on the gold in our vaults, but the iron in our blood. And let us cling like ivy to the faith of our fathers until, in God's good time, all men are free.
